Resignation of the two Conchas—A New Ministry to be Formed—A Council of State at San Sebastian.

PARIS, Tuesday, Sept. 29.

The Moniteur says JOSE DE LA CONCHA, at the head of the Government in Madrid, and MANUEL DE LA CONCHA, in command of an army in the field, have both sent their resignations to the Queen. In the communication they inform Her Majesty that her refusal to return to Madrid unless accompanied by her Minister, MARFORI, destroys all hope of checking the insurrection. The Queen has accepted the resignations of the CONCHAS, and has sent for the Count of Cheste to form a new Ministry. The Queen has also summoned a Council of State to meet at San Sebastian.

Col. Forsyth and his Wounded Men at Fort Wallace—Another Indian Fight Expected—Ex-Gov. Beales, of Wisconsin, shot.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Tuesday, Sept. 29.

A dispatch from Gannel Station, on the Kansas Pacific Railroad, says Col. FORSYTH and all his wounded men have arrived at Fort Wallace, and are doing well. Judge PLENY MOORE arrived at Wallace yesterday for the remains of Doctor MOORE, who was killed in the recent fight with the Indians.

Six hundred Indians crossed the railroad near Monment yesterday. The impression is that they are preparing to make an attack on all the stations along the route, and are driving buffalos in advance, their usual plan. The citizens along the entire route are under arms. Capt. CLOUSE is inspecting all troops, and fortifying and issuing ammunition when wanted.

An Helena, Montana, dispatch says, "S. W. BEALES, Ex-Governor of Wisconsin, was shot and killed yesterday by GEORGE M. PINNEY, formerly the United States Marshal of Montana. The Coroner's Jury returned a verdict that PINNEY killed Mr. BEALES in self defense."

Immense numbers of buffalo are on the sides of the railroad, extending some sixty miles.

CRICKET.

The International Match at Boston.

BOSTON, Tuesday, Sept. 29.

The International Cricket Match was resumed this afternoon with GRIFFITH, not out yesterday, forty-one runs, and POOLEY, not out, five runs, again at the wickets. GRIFFITH only added eight runs, when he was caught by the wicket-keeper CROSS, from EASTWOOD—six wickets and eighty-nine runs.

SHAW joined POOLEY, who soon after was caught at midwicket by CROSSLAND, NEWHALL's bowling never giving him a chance. His seventeen counting two fours, three twos and singles, by first-rate cricket. Seventh wicket, 101 runs.

LILLYWHITE then joined SHAW, and was soon dismissed by a ripper from NEWHALL. Eighth wicket, 101 runs.

SHAW also retired before NEWHALL for four. Ninth wicket, 108 runs.

SMITH's twenty-six yesterday were excellently played, counting six threes and five twos.

TARRANT, not out for a well-played five. WILLSHER caught DAVIS, bowled EASTWOOD, one. Wides, 2; total, 109; no byes being made by BATE, the long stop.

The fielding throughout was first rate, there being but one miss during the inning. CHARLES NEWHALL's bowling was very fine, but the wretched state of the ground marred the fine batting of the English cricketers.

The Eleven then went into the field pluckily, and soon disposed of their opponents, their fielding being extraordinary at all points, FREEMAN bowling thirteen wickets, three of which fell by successive balls. CHARLES NEWHALL, CROSSLAND and RODICK were the wonder of every one.

Mr. CROSS, of St. George, got an off-hit for five from FREEMAN; and four to long-leg from WILLSHER and three singles, and FARLEY, of Boston, not out for three runs.

NORLEY for three and G. NEWHALL for two, also showed good cricket, as did some others for nothing. WILLSHER also bowled extremely well, and JUPP longstopped as well as could be expected, considering the rough ground. It was greatly feared that the score of the Twenty-two would not reach thirty runs, so as to prevent them from following their inning, but the fine cricket of GEORGE WRIGHT prevented the disgrace of such a strong team being beaten in one inning, and when the last wicket fell, thirty-nine runs were scored.

ALL ENGLAND—SECOND INNING.

The Eleven sent JUPP and HUMPHREY to the bat in the second innings. The latter was bowled by NEWHALL for four. One wicket for nine runs. SMITH bowled by NEWHALL, one. Two wickets for fifteen runs. GRIFFITH was caught by NEWHALL, bowled EASTWOOD, two. Three wickets for twenty. TARRANT cought SENDER at point, bowled EASTWOOD, six. Four wickets for twenty-six.

When time was called JUPP was not out for seventeen, and LILLYWHITE not out for one.

The weather was delightful, but windy in the afternoon. About 3,000 persons were present. Quite a number of ladies were under and around the reserved tents and seats for their accommodation.

The Harvard, Trimountain and Lowell Clubs furnish the nine to play against the nine cricketers in the base-ball match on Thursday.

The Difficulty Between the Catholic Clergy of Chicago and Bishop Duggan.

A Chicago telegram of the 28th inst., says that Bishop DUGGAN has withdrawn his oppressive deprivation of Mr. ROLES' official functions, and for some reason has not yet proceeded against either of the other priests. Dr. MCMULLEN has already visited several members of the American Hierarchy, preparatory for leaving for Europe. His friends and the friends of other clergymen have thought proper to make public the letter written on his leaving, which is as follows:

SUNDAY EVENING, Sept. 20.

RIGHT-REV. AND DEAR BISHOP: You have done me the honor more than once of signifying to me that I am sincere, honorable and laborious in whatever I think, say, or do in all matters of importance pertaining to religion. I hope, dear Bishop, that you will accord to me the same kindness of judgment while I state to you that I am convinced that it is my sacred duty to God, religion and my fellow-men to do all I can within the bounds of truth and justice to remove you from the Bishopric of Chicago. I am devoid of all the feelings that are not the kindest toward you. Should you ever need my assistance, dear Bishop, it shall not be withheld.

Being one of those who believed it for your benefit to make such statements regarding your administration as would induce the Holy See to remove you from this diocese, and as you have thought it proper to remove Rev. JOSEPH H. ROLES as a punishment for having united with me in making these representations, I now, as a party concerned, appeal against your action to the Holy See.

I wish to call your attention, dear Bishop, to the canons of the Church in reference to appeals to superior tribunals, and especially to the Holy See, according to which, while the case is pending, I cannot be relieved from office or benefice. I therefore retain my parish, and request that you appoint a clergyman to attend to it during my absence.

Before this communication shall have reached you I shall be on my way to Rome. Farewell, then dear Bishop; you shall be remembered in my prayers. If we never meet again on earth, let us so demean ourselves as to be worthy of living with our Father who is in Heaven. J. MULLEN, D. D.

It is supposed that, bringing this letter to the attention of the Bishop, under the canon law allowing an appeal to Rome, the appellant cannot be deprived of his parish or benefice, and has had the effect of delaying, if not preventing altogether, the contemplated suspension of other clergymen.

New Developments in the Tuller Case—Probable Discovery of B. T. Abbott.

From the Hartford Courant, Sept. 28.

Since CHAS. D. TULLER, of this city, was released from the State Prison, he has devoted the greater portion of his time, in company with some of his active friends, in following up a discovery he made almost immediately after he left the prison. It is known that TULLER, from the start, has not only persistently maintained that he was innocent, but has stated in detail all the circumstances connected with the sale of bonds which were traced to him, and has in no instance deviated from the story he first told. He has affirmed that he sold the bonds, which belonged to LOYAL WILCOX, for a man who came into the Hartford Bank, where he was employed as teller, and who gave his name as B. T. ABBOTT. Of this man ABBOTT a full description has repeatedly been given by TULLER. TULLER, upon his release from prison, was told that a man had a short time previous passed a forged check, as was subsequently ascertained, upon SHELDON KINNEY, of Bloomfield, and that the man while there, and in a partially disguised condition, owing to the free use of opium, had made some statements which led to the supposition that he possessed knowledge either as principal or accessory of the bond robbery. It so happened that the man—whose real name is GEORGE W. BASSETT—had with him at the time he passed through East Hartford and Windsor, a horse and carriage which he had hired and stolen from the livery stable of SMITH & WEST, of New-London, and a few days after Mr. WEST overhauled him near Boston, and took him to Norwich, where he was lodged in jail. TULLER saw the man in the Norwich jail. There is a difficulty in the way of a complete recognition, as the prisoner had no hat on, and was considerably bald, while, changing him still more, his beard had been wholly shaved, at his own request, and he was quite solicitous to have it done, immediately after he entered the jail. But he wore heavy sandy whiskers when he reached Norwich, and, as he had been sentenced to State Prison for two years, his beard will be permitted to grow again. In size, voice and general appearance he is the complete Abbott whom Mr. TULLER remembers.

Mr. TULLER has in his possession a large number of papers and documents belonging to the man, and they all go to show his calling. There is one large package of bank checks, upon banks in all parts of the country; letters to supposed confedeartes, written in a "blind" way; hotel letter-heads and cards; a memorandum book giving names of prominent business men, and forged letters.

This is but a brief sketch of what has been done to unravel the great mystery surrounding this remarkable "story of the bonds." Certain it is that there are strong probabilities of Mr. TULLER's success in proving to the world beyond all cavil that he is the innocent man he has all along claimed to be; and if he shall succeed it will present one of the most singular cases in the criminal annals of this country. Mr. WEST, of New-London, who captured the man, says he has no doubt that he is the man TULLER believes him to be. As further developments are made, we shall keep our readers advised.

Gen. Bartlett to Head the Massachusetts Delegation to the National Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention.

The following letter, written by Gen. BARTLETT, will be read with great satisfaction by loyal men who watched his career during the war:

PITTSFIELD, Sept. 26, 1868.

Gen. F. W. Palfrey:

DEAR SIR: I am just in receipt of your telegram of this date, asking if I will "take command of Massachusetts delegation to Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention at Philadelphia?" I am no politician. If I were to be classed at all, I suppose it would be as a War Democrat. And having been a War Democrat during the war, now that the war is over I most certainly desire peace—a peace that was so steadily fought for, a peace that was so fairly won. That peace would seem now to be threatened, unless the men who surrendered unconditionally at Appomattox are allowed to dictate terms to the men who taught them, through four bloody years, that the way of rebellion is hard. I believe in the utmost liberality and magnanimity toward a fallen foe, and I would extend the right hand heartily in token of forgiveness and friendship. Such liberality characterized GRANT's terms as General of the Army when rebellion laid down its arms. Such magnanimity and charity will, I believe, mark his course as Commander-in-Chief. Believing as I do in the soundness of heart of the soldiers of Massachusetts, their devotion to truth, to valor and to justice, I shall in peace follow with them, or, failing a chief more worthy, shall with pride lead them.

I am, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,
W. F. BARTLETT.

Hon. DONALD J. WARNER, an able lawyer of Litchfield County, Conn., bar, who was one of the delegates to the Tammany Convention, made a speech in Cornwall, Conn., recently, in which he warmly supported GRANT and COLFAX. He said he preferred peace with GRANT to war with BLAIR.

POLITICAL AFFAIRS.

The Campaign in Western Pennsylvania.

What the Republicans Expect to do in October and November.

Letter of Gen. Rufus Barringer, of North Carolina.

Republican Primary Meetings in New-York and Brooklyn.

PENNSYLVANIA.

The Campaign West of the Alleghanies—Unbounded Enthusiasm—What the Republicans Expect to do in October, and also in November—About Congressmen—The Blairs on the Stump, &c., &c.

From Our Special Correspondent.

MONONGAHELA HOUSE,
PITTSBURG, Penn., Monday, Sept. 28, 1868.

The enthusiasm of the Republicans of Pennsylvania west of the Alleghany Mountains is really wonderful to behold. If the eastern section of the State is burning with the ardor of a victory confidently hoped for, the western is ablaze with a triumph already achieved. The former are sanguine; the latter are more than positive. Especially is this the case in Alleghany County, the great banner county of the State, and, as the Pittsburgers claim, of the United States. Coming from Harrisburg to Pittsburg is like the transition from a Ritualistic Church to a Methodist camp meeting. There the party feeling may be earnest, but it is subdued. Here it is spontaneous, demonstrative, overwhelming. In this busy hive of intelligent industry, with its 30,000 "men of iron," who daily work at the "flaming forge of life," the liberty-inspiring labor-elevating doctrines of the Republican Party have their full and legitimate sway. They are accepted by all, and questioned by none, or next to none, of the thousands of mechanics, artisans and ironworkers from whose workshops arise the ceaseless volumes of smoke that obscure the heavens, and render Pittsburg a very cave of Vulcan. Even the prejudices of color are ignored in a place where the distinctions of color are scarcely discernible from the murky atmosphere and the falling soot. Thus I noticed on a banner borne by the employes of the Glendon Iron Works, in the great procession the other day, the motto, "Elevation and protection to all who sweat for bread without regard to clime or color." Speaking of that procession, it was one of the most remarkable political demonstrations ever witnessed in this country or any other place, and furnishes a good illustration of the indomitable enthusiasm that prevails among the Republicans hereabouts. The demonstration came off on Thursday last, there having been on the previous night an immense torchlight procession, in which over 6,000 torches were borne, by actual count. Early on Thursday morning it commenced raining, and poured incessantly from that time till midnight. In most places this would have put an end to the demonstration, or at least caused a postponement. Not so here. In spite of the rain and the intensely muddy streets, the procession was nine miles in length, and in the imposing grandeur of the display, the variety and significance of the devices and mottoes and banners, and the universal enthusiasm that prevailed, exceeded any political demonstration ever before witnessed in Pittsburg.

In attempting to report the prospects of the campaign, while surrounded by the exaggerated Republican enthusiasm of Pittsburg and Alleghany County, it will readily be seen that a person might be very liable to go astray. I can only say that no candid man of either party, in this section of the State, has any doubt of the Republicans carrying the State at the October election, and that the most moderate of the well-informed Republicans do not fix the majority at less than 15,000. This, however, is not, as they all agree, to be considered as an index of the majority that GRANT will get in November. The only State officers to be voted for on a general ticket in October are an Auditor-General and a Surveyor-General—neither of them officers of importance, or calculated to bring out a full vote. All the other offices to be filled at the State election are local or Congressional, and will of course be more or less affected by local prejudices and preferences. If the Republican candidates for Auditor and Surveyor are elected in October by a majority of 15,000, it is estimated that GRANT's majority will not be less than 30,000, and some estimate it as high as 50,000. In Pennsylvania, as in New-York and everywhere else, there are large numbers of Democrats who quietly say to their friends that they cannot vote the Seymour and Blair ticket, though they still desire to be classed as Democrats. Some of those will not vote at all at the Presidential election, but many of them (and the number is increasing daily) openly declare that they shall vote for GRANT. From this class the Republican vote in November, it is thought, will receive an accession so great as to astonish all parties.

The principal aim and hope of the Democrats of this State, in the October election, is to secure as many Congressmen as possible, and to keep down the Republican majority on the State ticket to a figure that will not produce a panic in their party ranks elsewhere. With reference to their first object—the securing of Congressmen—they have a bare possibility of gaining the Twenty-first District, comprising the Counties of Indiana, Westmoreland and Fayette, now represented by Hon. JOHN COVODE, and they are sure to lose the Twelfth District, (Leheigh, Luzerne, Carbon and Northampton Counties,) now represented by GEO. W. WOODWARD. COVODE has some enemies in his own party, and has the misfortune to have a very popular man (HENRY D. FOSTER) for an opponent. Still, he is a shrewd politician, a good wire-puller and a hard worker, and he thinks he will succeed. WOODWARD, in the Twelfth District, was elected two years ago by 412 majority. He is now opposed by THEODORE STRONG, a popular Republican, who, in consequence of local dissatisfaction with WOODWARD, will get most of the Irish vote in that mining district, and will certainly be elected. The other Congressional districts are not likely to suffer change one way or the other; so that the Democracy cannot possibly get any more out of the twenty-four Representatives to Congress than the six they now have, and may get one less.

But the vote in Congressional districts, like the vote on the State ticket, will not be a correct indication of the probable status of the vote in November. Take Alleghany County, for instance. The Republicans here do not expect a majority of over 8,000 or 9,000 at the October election, and yet they are freely betting on 12,000 majority for GRANT in November—an increase of 2,000 over the majority given by the county for LINCOLN, in 1864. Take, also, the City of Pittsburg. It has a clear Republican majority of 5,000 or over, and yet its present Mayor (BLACKMORE) is a Democrat. He was elected as a citizens' candidate on local issues entirely. The Municipal election of Pittsburg takes place on the same day as the State election, and BLACKMORE may possibly be re-elected, though it is not probable. But if he should, the Democracy abroad would make a sad mistake in claiming Pittsburg as a Democratic city, or inferring that it will go for SEYMOUR in November. Yet they will doubtless do so. Pittsburg proper, which now numbers about 130,000 inhabitants, together with the southern part of Alleghany County, including Birmingham, has one member of Congress, while the northern part of the county, including Alleghany City, together with the Counties of Butler and Armstrong, has another. Both of these Congressional districts are overwhelmingly Republican.

FRANK BLAIR, the Democratic candidate for the Vice-Presidency, arrived in this city Saturday evening, and is advertised to address the Democracy, from the balcony of the St. Charles Hotel, to-night. Where he goes next is not yet down on the programme. The Republicans are anxious he should stump the State, and have offered to pay his expenses. MONTGOMERY BLAIR is already engaged, and the more of the Blair family they have the better they think it will be for the Republican Party. FRANK is to do the spouting and drinking, and MONTGOMERY will explain to the people exactly what he means—and also what he don't mean.

Enthusiastic Republican Meeting in Lancaster—Democratic Outrage.

LANCASTER, Penn., Tuesday, Sept. 29.

A mass meeting of the Republicans of Lancaster County was held here to-day, which exceeded in point of numbers and enthusiasm any similar former demonstration of the Republicans of this county. Speeches were made by Gov. GEARY, Gen. KILPATRICK, A. F. STEVENS, member of Congress from New-Hampshire; JAMES W. PATTERSON, United States Senator from New-Hampshire; G. A. GROW, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, and O. J. DICKEY, Republican candidate for Congress in this district.

A most disgraceful affair occurred in this city this afternoon. While the meeting was being held, a band of several hundred men, members of the opposite party, attacked with clubs and stones and beat indiscriminately persons whom they found wearing anything to indicate that they were Republicans. The attack lasted upward of an hour, during which a number of persons were more or less injured. Though the Mayor had employed a large number of special policemen to assist the regular Police force to preserve order during the meeting, they failed to stop the disturbance. Stones were used freely, and the shutters of the windows of most of the business places in several squares were closed to prevent the glass from being broken.

Another meeting of Republicans was held to-night in Fulton Hall, which was addressed by R. STOCKETT MATHEWS, of Baltimore.

The Democratic Demonstrations in Pennsylvania.

SCRANTON, Penn., Tuesday, Sept. 29.

FERNANDO WOOD to-night addressed a meeting of between three and four thousand persons. Great enthusiasm prevailed. A Democratic mass meeting will be held at Waverly to-morrow. Senator BUCKALEW, FERNANDO WOOD, Judge WOODWARD and others are expected to speak.

OHIO.

Hon. Henry Stanbery on the Southern State Governments.

Ex-Attorney-General STANBERY addressed a Democratic meeting in Lancaster, Ohio, on Saturday evening. His speech was mainly devoted to an argument against the Congressional plan of reconstruction, and said that he has made up his mind to oppose these revolutionary measures. In conclusion he spoke as follows, apparently thinking that a Southern rebel, who fought against the Government is now entitled to the same rights and privileges as a Southern loyal man:

And now as to the question, "How can the Democratic Conservative Party apply a remedy?" There are some who say the evil is incurable; that, right or wrong, the black races of the South have been invested with the right of suffrage, and it cannot be taken away; that, right or wrong, the Southern States have been reconstructed and recognized by Congress, and in virtue of that recognition, their status is irreversibly fixed. Listen, my doubting friend. If a Republican Congress could disfranchise the white man, cannot a Democratic Congress disfranchise the negroes? If a Republican Congress can take the ballot from the white man, and give it to the negro, cannot a Democratic Congress restore it to its former and rightful owner? If a Republican Congress could declare a State Constitution void, when made by the white men of a State in the exercise of their free will, cannot a Democratic Congress declare a State Constitution void, made by the black men of the South, with the help of the bayonet? Finally, if a Congressional recognition is the test of State legality, cannot a Democratic Congress apply it just as well as a Republican Congress? All we have to do is to reverse what has been done, and to undo, by constitutional means, what has been done by revolutionary means. First of all, elect a President who will fight it out on the line of the Constitution, instead of the line of the Republican army. Next, elect a Democratic House of Representatives, and half the work is done; for not a Representative from any one of these reconstructed States will be recognized or allowed to take his seat in that body, and not another dollar will be appropriated to sustain the Freedmen's Bureau, or the military occupation of the South. Finally, put a Democratic majority in the Senate, and then the good work will be finished. It will take time, perhaps, more than it has taken to do the mischief. The process may be a slow one; but, my Democratic friends, if you are of the same class of men as the Democracy of old—if you possess the same steadfast, unconquerable will, sooner or later success is sure.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Letter of Gen. Rufus Barringer Accepting the Republican Nomination for Elector.

Gen. RUFUS BARRINGER has written the following letter accepting the Republican nomination for Elector in the Sixth District of North Carolina. Gen. BARRINGER is a leading member of the bar of his State, of large means and high social standing. He was opposed to the secession of North Carolina but after the war had begun, entered the rebel army and fought gallantly, rising from the position of Captain to Brigadier-General. With Gen. LONGSTREET, Gen. WICKHAM and others, he now urges the election of Gen. GRANT as the only course open to secure the permanent prosperity of the South.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 21, 1868.

Messrs. Wm. Sloan, S. P. Sherrill, James McDonald, Committee, &c.:

GENTLEMEN: Yours of the 17th inst. is before me, informing me of my unanimous nomination as the Grant and Colfax elector for this district. I have been absent from the State four weeks, and this nomination was made without my knowledge or consent. I did not wish to take an active part in politics. I have avoided committing myself fully to any party. I do not live by office or agitation. But in view of the momentous issue presented by the Democratic Party at New-York, I go for GRANT and COLFAX with all my heart, and I accept the nomination tendered. I beg to thank the Republicans of the district for the confidence reposed in me, and to return the Committee my obligations for the kind manner in which they have made known to me the wishes of the party. Owing to an affection of my voice, I may not be able to canvass very extensively; but I shall in a few days enter upon the work before me. Meantime I give you an outline of my views, which you can use as you think best.

Early in the Summer of 1865 I saw that reconstruction was not impossible, and I resolved to do all I could to promote it. I meant to do so, not with mere lip service, but with an honest conviction and with a heart-felt zeal. Why not? I had once loved the Union. It was the work of our fathers. It had often protected me in foreign and far distant lands. It had given us untold blessings at home. I had opposed the war, but when it came, and I saw no way to save ourselves—no hope to preserve society, but for all to go together and take our chances on the field of battle, I forgot party, and went into it with all my soul. While thus doing my whole duty to my people and to my section, nothing occurred to myself personally to awaken undue bitterness or revenge. I knew what the conflict would be before I went into it. I had cherished no prejudices against the North. I had learned to appreciate her wonderful energy, steadiness of purpose, enterprise, skill and genius. I gloried in free institutions, but I knew with what fierceness and fury free people always fight. It was after all only a struggle between two opposing theories of civilization, each superior of its kind; but each having characteristics hateful to the other. But with slavery—the great distinctive feature, gone, these superficial differences must gradually disappear. Our theory having gone under, we had no alternative but to adopt the other, and to proceed cautiously and gradually to conform to it, or plunge hopelessly into the vortex of anarchy and strife. I recognized the fact that great wars settle political rights and principles. People said we were not conquered; but overpowered by numbers. But there is always moral causes that give the victor his numbers and inspire them with fortitude, enthusiasm and courage to press onward to the death, and until victory crowns their efforts.

What were these moral causes? The unreflective, the selfish and the vindictive are apt to look only at the surface, and say hate, fanaticism and the lust of power. But it is a fatal mistake to suppose that these permanently control the interest of man, guide the destiny of nations or animate the hopes of the world. Whatever, then, the moral causes were that triumphed in the conflict, they must go on to conquer, until they reach their just and legitimate results. The millions that prayed and fought and perished for them, will not, after all this, stop at any half-way house, or turn back in defeat and disgrace. Until these results are reached, there can be no repose. Resistance reanimates them. But once reached, all settle down, and the work of peace truly begins. Passions die out. The wounds of war are healed. Society is reconstructed on its true basis. Virtue and intelligence resume their sway. Rents made in laws, constitutions and in all prescriptive rights, are peacefully bound up, and the new guarantees become political landmarks.

Now, all admitted that it was the Republican Party that triumphed in the war. Here at the South it was ever charged that it was the essential elements of a Black Republicanism that were at work North that elected Mr. LINCOLN, that organized the Union armies, and that led them finally to victory. The great bulk of the Democrats North, who entered the Federal army, became Republicans. In May, 1865, the Democratic Party was politically dead, and the distinctive tenets of Republicanism were practically recognized all through the North. For myself, I always felt that these theories lay at the bottom of the Revolution. I did not dread them to the extent of others, and I was always willing to compromise our troubles, if I could have believed that the Southern people were only in a temper to accept just results. I knew they were not, and I was willing, rather than subjugation, to fight for their sake. But when that overwhelming calamity came, I said promptly and frankly, accept the results of our defeat, adopt Republican theories, and proceed in our way and time to conform to them. I will be frank now, and admit that the progress of the war and especially my own experience in the army, dispelled in some measure prejudices I had against the masses, and especially colored people. As a Southron born and as a Confederate officer I never can forget the fidelity and devotion of the humbler class of whites and of the slaves in our midst. Though it comes from myself I will say it: It the politicians and upper class at home, who had all at stake, had done their duty, like those in the army, the result might possibly have been different. Through four terrible years I for one never missed a tour of duty, except when wounded, on leave, or in prison. Nor did my men desert me. No member of my old company was ever so much as tried by a general court martial. My regiment was pronounced in official reports "a pattern for others." My brigade entered upon the campaign of 1865, with thrice the numbers of any other in the service, and in the day of trial, thirty officers and over two hundred men sealed the last Confederate victory with their blood. Let those who enjoyed bomb-proofs and civil offices, while brave and true men battled at the front, call me what they please, I am bold to say, that the lesson of all our troubles has given me more faith in the humbler American freeman, more confidence in liberal institutions, and I am not afraid to say, more respect for even Black Republican principles. I am not ashamed of the cause for which I fought, nor of the part played in the war. But as God in His mercy spared my life through seventy and odd actions on the field of battle, through three dangerous wounds, and through scenes of death in camp and in prison more terrible than fields of conflict, I trust I have lived to learn at least, something by experience, and that I may ever have the nerve and independence to declare for the right. No man cherishes more than I do the heroic courage of the Southern people, and the noble sacrifices made by the great majority of all classes for our cause. Over the graves of our fallen dead I will ever shed tears of affection. For surviving soldiers and all true Confederates, I shall delight to wreathe chaplets of fame, and hang around their names the bright immortelles of honor and renown. This is all I owe to the past. A bleeding, agonizing country lies before us—in the throes of revolution. I now look mainly to the future, and the chief question is,—how can we escape the new dangers threatening us?

Go back three years; can any man doubt, it would have been better for us to have voluntarily conceded qualified negro suffrage in 1865? This would have broken the force of the Revolution. It was all I then advised and, I feel confident, it was all the Republican leaders and masses then expected. But I ever said, that unless this much was conceded, more and worse must come, and come, too, in a form and under circumstances deeply humiliating to our people and dangerous to the peace of society. But our leaders said no! Concede nothing! And they resorted to the most desperate means to induce the people to reject everything. The Howard Amendment was scorned throughout the South, and in this State even the new constitution, framed under the policy of Mr. JOHNSON himself, was voted down. At last, after the spirit thus shown, Congress was forced to act, in order to open the way for the ideas that had triumphed in the war, for the protection of those who embraced them, and especially for the protection of Unionists and four millions of freedmen, still threatened with black codes and other hostile legislation. The Howard Amendment had left suffrage to the States, just as the Conservatives desired. That rejected, Congress proceeded to pass the Reconstruction measures. These measures were not unconstitutional; nor were they designed as punishments. The time had passed for punishments. The Northern theory of the Constitution always favored co-ercion. The Southern Whigs believed in it, until they were befogged by secession. Co-ercion was made good on the field of battle, and with it followed all the rights incident to successful war. But if this is not so, still the fact remained, that we were a conquered people, and it was worse than folly for those who set out by inaugurating unsuccessful war to dictate terms to the conqueror. The truth is, no written constitution can stand the test of civil war. The Confederate Constitution was shattered ere six months, and by the very men who now denounce Congress for usurpations.

But, these acts were passed—conferring universal negro suffrage; and they have now been executed. Where are the terrible evils, the horrors of St. Domingo, so fearfully looked for? Where the confiscation, the negro social equality, the mixed schools, the proscription and the negro supremacy so loudly predicted? Southern whites all vote, and only a few ex-officials are excluded, probably temporarily, from holding office. There is no negro supremacy. Every State, district, county, city, town, and village in the land is governed by white men, and always will be. If carpet-baggers, scalawags and negroes hold power, it is only because the whites, under the advice of misguided leaders refused to vote, or worse still, fell into the snare of a white man's party. The only difference is, these "new men" have given us the "results of the war" all at once; and with the plow-share of reform they struck deep into the musty institutions, habits and customs to which we have clung while all the world was marching onward in the path of progress. Probably it is best that it is so, as these results were destined to come sooner or later. There is no doubt that in the end the South will advance rapidly under the impulse given her by conforming at once to the new order of things. In North Carolina public credit has already greatly improved.

Again, the leaders charged, that nothing would satisfy the Radicals; and that, after all, the States would not be admitted. Every State adopting a Constitution is back in the Union; civil Government is re-established; law and order again prevail. There are no such outbreaks and riots as those in New-Orleans and Memphis occurring prior to the adoption of negro suffrage. These facts fully vindicate the soundness of Republican principles. And they vindicate the wisdom and good faith of Congress. Providence seems at last to smile upon us. With a fair crop planted, and better worked than ever before, we have good seasons and hope for the return of prosperity and plenty.

The only drawback to all this, is the spirit of revolution spread abroad over the whole land by the action of the New-York Convention of July last. That body revived in spirit, as well as in name, the Democratic party of 1860-61. The same old secession and Copperhead leaders were there, supported by a class of Whig politicians from the South, who, after the war broke out and the Secessionists became odious, managed to ride into power, but who are now under the ban, and therefore discontented. These desperate leaders, taking advantage of the temporary prejudices raised by the Reconstruction measures, and especially negro suffrage, have not scrupled to throw down again the gauntlet of war. In their platform, they solemnly declare all the Reconstruction acts of Congress, though passed in strict conformity to the Constitution, "unconstitutional, revolutionary and void." They nominated for President HORATIO SEYMOUR, who as Governor of the great State of New-York in 1863 pandered to a Democratic mob, that held the City of New-York for three days, and was only put down by the General Government—a mob that burnt negroes, hung them to lamp-posts, and sacked and fired orphan asylums. They put up for Vice-President Gen. F. P. BLAIR, who was nominated with a storm of applause, solely because a few days before he had written a letter, in which, admitting all hope of getting rid of the reconstructed acts by peaceful means to be gone, he boldly proclaims that the President elect should, on his own responsibility, in defiance of Congress and without any decision of the courts against them, "declare these acts null and void, compel the army to undo its usurpation to the South, disperse the carpet-bag State governments and allow the white people to reorganize their own governments." No such violent and reckless proposition was ever before heard of in this country.

There were good men in the Convention, but this platform and these candidates conclusively prove that the extreme leaders carried everything before them. The effect is seen and felt all over the country. At the North the passions of war are fully aroused. Throughout the South resistance is openly avowed. Officers of the law are defied; authority is disregarded; public dues are withheld. In some instances persons accepting offices under the new constitutions and sworn to support the laws made thereunder, denounce the whole as null and void, and of no binding force whatever! In others, parties are prevented from supporting the authorities or accepting office by threats of violence and by business and social ostracism. These leaders are determined that the reconstruction acts shall not succeed. They don't want the Republicans to succeed in pacifying the country. It would be double death to them. They were the men really defeated in the war. They brought it on. They failed in their schemes then, and they are now doubly sore-headed, doubly desperate. They are satisfied with nothing. They grumble at everything. They deceive the masses just as they deceived them in 1860-61. They call it "peaceable revolution," and they term themselves "Conservative Democrats." But they are more intent on mischief than ever. Their only hope is a counter revolution. They may gain by it. Even a bad wind may blow them good. Whether the masses wish it or not, put these leaders in power and the peace of the country must be endangered. They might be satisfied with power. But the elements of discord, once at work, would never rest. A conflict must ensue. Any trifle might bring it on. A single gun at Sumter summoned a continent to arms, and peaceful, prosperous and happy millions were hurried to the harvest of death.

The election of SEYMOUR and BLAIR does not mean a change of rulers. It means a reaction; a counter revolution. What was ever gained by counter revolutions? They only intensify passion, increase crime and sharpen the thirst for blood and further revolution. What did England gain by reaction in 1660? The most cruel, bloody, licentious and disgraceful reign she ever had. The oppression of CHARLES II, and JAMES II forced still another revolution; that of 1688, when all parties were glad to go back to the great principles of the uprising of 1640. It was a reaction that brought on the reign of terror in France, and plunged all Europe in blood for twenty long years. We are now practically at the end of our revolution. We have reached its logical results—freedom for all the Union, and the equality of all before the law. The country is comparatively quiet. All classes are safe in life, liberty and property. We now need only peace and time to recuperate. Things will settle down sooner than we suppose. Old parties will dissolve. New ones, more tolerant to all, will spring up. This is the spirit of the age. Only a few years ago we ourselves prescribed Catholics and Jews. The retribution has at length come. But it can't last long. The logical sequence to universal suffrage is universal amnesty, and with peace between sections, races and classes it will soon follow. Now will the people risk all on the cast of a die? Will they, in a reckless effort to escape inevitable but temporary burthens and evils, incur even the chance of another war, and invite us once more to the carnival of blood? Not a civil but an internecine war, before which will pale the late giagntic struggle in magnitude as the molehill to the mountain, and in fierceness and fury as the smile of a babe to the rage of a demon.

For these reasons, I can under no circumstances vote the present Democratic programme. I have no special fondness for Republicans; but they never deceived us, and I can at least respect and trust them. This I cannot do with the Northern Democracy. They encouraged our secession leaders into war and then deserted us—many of them leading the Union armies against us. The Republicans warned us against secession, and did only what they said they would. It is a small matter that, in such a war as we have had, "new men" should turn up. This is the course of all revolutions. Half the patriots of 1776 were new men. But our present novi homines will prove angels of light, compared to those who will turn up by the end of our second or third revolution, if counter-revolutions once set in.

On some accounts, I prefer a military man. As a class they have few prejudices. The soldiers of the two armies will be the first to forget the unhappy past, and rejoice together in the hopes of the future. Gen. Grant was magnanimous to us in the surrender. He has uttered no unkind words of us. He has commended the noble qualities of the Southern army. He is neither a negro-hater nor a negro-worshipper. It can now be only his ambition to restore the Union he has saved—to restore it in all its parts, its interests, its sympathies and its aspirations. He will not only give us peace and prosperity, but a Union we can love and a Government we can honor.

Respectfully, your obedient servant,
RUFUS BARRINGER.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The Mortuary Record of the Past Week—Cleaning the Streets—Miscellaneous.

The Metropolitan Board of Health held a special session yesterday afternoon, Commissioner GEORGE B. LINCOLN presiding.

The Registrar of Vital Statistics submitted the usual weekly report, in which it was stated that "during the week that ended on Saturday last, there were 454 deaths in New-York, and 193 in Brooklyn. These results show that the rate of mortality is still steadily decreasing. But it has not yet reached the low and healthful rate that was noted at the end of the first week in July—then at the expiration of three weeks of Summer heat. That week gave forty-one less deaths in New-York than occurred last week, which was the third one of Autumn and reduced temperature. The depressing influence of long-continued Summer heat, and the still more fatal effects of that natural chemistry attending it and producing putrescent miasms, are not at once overcome by the Autumnal weather. Zymotic diseases, which depend on filth and infections, destroyed 147 lives in New-York (32.38 per cent. of the total number of deaths) and seventy-five persons (38.86 per cent.) in Brooklyn; and two-thirds of this class of deaths were certified as diarrhoeal disorders. Only twenty-seven of these are accredited directly to cholera infantum in New-York; but there are fifty-six others charged to the chronic and wasting bowel disorders which, in most cases, followed cholera infantum that was so prevalent a few weeks ago. Of children under one year, there were 156 deaths, or 34.36 per cent., and of children under five years of age, there were 225, or 56.08 per cent. of the total in New-York last week; and in Brooklyn, the same periods gave 39.38 and 64.76 per cent. respectively. Typhoid fever caused twelve deaths in New-York and six in Brooklyn. It seeks the same insalubrious districts that suffered the heaviest diarrhoeal mortality. Three out of the twelve occurred in the Twenty-second Ward. The mean temperature in the week was 60° Fahrenheit; the average humidity 79-100 of total saturation; and the total rain-fall was equal to four inches depth of water. The range of temperature on Tuesday and Wednesday was 30° Fahrenheit; and in the course of the week there were several such sudden alternations, some effects of which may appear next week or later in the increased number of deaths from diseases of the respiratory organs, as well as from an increase of dysentery.

The Attorney was authorized to commence suits against one hundred and forty persons, one hundred and ten for violation of the Tenement-house Law, twenty-nine for refusing to comply with orders of the Board, and one for violation of the code.

An application for permission to erect and maintain a slaughter-house in West Forty-sixth-street, near the North River, presented by Commissioner SMITH, was denied by the Board, and other similar applications were referred to the Sanitary Committee.

Complaints as to the dangerous condition of the pavement of the public streets in various parts of the City were referred to the Street Department.

Sanitary Superintendent DALTON reported that since the 1st of July last the employes of the Board had removed 6,805 loads of garbage from the public streets, at a cost of $10,578 61. The work was done under an appropriation by the State Legislature, of $20,000, made over a year ago, for the cleaning of streets, when necessary, oftener than required of the Street Commissioner, and the cleaning of such streets as are not included in the Commissioner's contract. It was resolved to continue the work as long as the public health renders it necessary. Adjournment until Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock was finally decreed.

The Theatre Fracas—Continuation of The Examination—Letter from the District-Attorney.

The examination was resumed yesterday, before Justice SHANDLEY, at the Essex Market Police Court, in the case of the Deputy Sheriffs LEARY, MOORE and HICKEY, charged with the late shooting at the Broadway Theatre. JOHN H. JACK, the actor, resumed the stand and testified at great length, but no facts of any interest were elicited. The witness was cross-examined at length by Mr. JOHN GRAHAM, the counsel for the defendants, upon whose motion the further hearing of the matter was adjourned until Tuesday next, when the testimony for the defence will probably be produced.

Yesterday Justice SHANDLEY made public the following letter from District-Attorney HALL:

DISTRICT-ATTORNEY'S OFFICE, Sept. 18, 1868.
In re People vs. Deputy Sheriffs.

MY DEAR JUSTICE SHANDLEY: Some of my esteemed friends of the reportorial staff have recently, in commenting upon this case, enacted two new statutes—one making it an offence to carry a pistol; the other making it the duty of the District-Attorney to conduct examinations and prosecute charges before Magistrates. But it is no offence to carry a pistol, concealed or exposed, and it is not the duty of the District-Attorney to prosecute before Magistrates, nor is it a custom for him to so prosecute. When requested by the Magistrate to argue some law points, such as Mr. HUTCHINGS combatted on the question of bail in this case, it is always my pleasure to be present. The correspondence between Mr. Board of Health SCHULTZ and myself in regard to prosecuting Excise complaints before Magistrates was made public, and I declined to attend to them. Occasionally, in cases presenting grave public questions of mixed law and fact, I have requested the Magistrates to allow me to attend and they generally consented. It is the theory of the statute, and I think a valuable one, that Coroners and Magistrates shall themselves, unaided, investigate for the people and in the nature of Judge-Advocate, and I am opposed to the theory of private counsel being employed by complainants before Magistrates, unless in cases wherein exist concurrent civil remedies. A Magistrate's court should have testimony too clear to need explanation from or pressing by a prosecuting lawyer. Thanking you and the counsel for the defence for the courtesy implied by awaiting the presence last week of an advocate from my office, under the impression that we desired to attend, believe me, your obliged and faithful servant,

A. OAKEY HALL.

The New-Jersey State Fair at Waverley.

The New-Jersey State Agricultural Society is now holding its tenth annual exhibition at Waverley, about three miles beyond Newark. The grounds of the Society, which are about half a mile from the railroad, are quite extensive, and are diversified and picturesque. They comprise an excellent half-mile race track and an extensive range of stabling and cattle-sheds.

At noon yesterday the grounds were thrown open to the public, but, as is usual on first days, the attendance was very limited. On entering the grounds the attention of visitors is first attracted by a number of large tents erected on the hill above the race track. The first of these contains a number of carriages and samples of harness, in the manufacture of which Newark has rendered itself famous, and of which there promises to be a goodly display.

Around this and the adjoining tents are displayed the agricultural implements, of which a large number are on the ground; some of them, however, are not yet in working order. Further on is the machinery shed, which as yet makes but a poor display. Messrs. HEWES & PHILLIPS, of Newark, are about the only exhibitors. To the left of this shed is a tent devoted to the exhibition of goods of household manufacture, musical instruments, photographs, sculpture, paintings, designs for farm-houses, &c. This tent is rapidly filling up, the ladies, apparently, having taken it in charge. On the other side of the race-track are the stables and cattle-sheds. Here are three pairs of Devonshire steers entered by Mr. H. M. OLMSTEAD, of Morristown. They are fine animals, and well worthy of notice. Mr. J. A. MILLER, of Newark, and Mr. UNDERHILL, enter some good Ayrshire cattle. Next come the Alderneys, of which Mr. TICKNOR shows a thoroughbred specimen. Gen. HALSTEAD, President of the Society, also has some good cattle on show. The swine and sheep pens are as yet empty. The poultry comprises some White Dorkings, African Bantams, Brahmas, Sebright Bantams and English Frizzlers, none of them being particularly worthy of notice.

Up to noon yesterday the entries numbered 500. It was expected that a very large number more would be made before 6 P. M., when the books closed. The premiums to be awarded amount to $7,000. Prizes are offered for thoroughbred horses, horses of all work, family horses, carriage horses, teams and mules and jacks, also for fast trotters, pacers and running horses. Among the cattle the best Devons, short-horns, Ayrshires, Alderneys and natives will be entitled to prizes. Premiums are also offered for the best specimens of grain and seeds, vegetables, fruits, flowers, wines, bread, farm implements, vehicles, worked metals and staple goods of household manufacture.

The exhibition will continue for four days, ending on Friday. Yesterday there was a trial of speed for road horses, and an exhibition of horses of all work. To-day there will be a plowing match at 11 A. M., and an exhibition of thoroughbreds. At 2:30 the trials of speed will take place. On Thursday, at 10 o'clock, a grand military review, parade and drill are promised, and an exhibition of matched teams. On Friday a grand parade of all horses on exhibition will take place. At 1 P. M., Hon. JOSEPH P. BRADLEY will deliver an address, after which the awards of the Committees will be read. A trial of speed will wind up the day and the exhibition.

DARING STREET ROBBERY.

As JAMES E. O'SHEA, of No. 99 Monroe-street, was conversing with a friend on Monday night, at the corner of William and Chatham streets, MARY ANN BRADLEY and ANN BROWN came up behind him, when the woman BRADLEY slipped a hand into his pantaloons pocket and stole $45 in cash. As soon as the larceny had been effected both women ran off. They were both subsequently arrested by Officer SULLIVAN, of the Fourth Ward, and on being brought before the Magistrate they were fully committed.

JEFFERSON MARKET—DODGE, JUSTICE.

THIEVES AND RECEIVERS.

During the night of the 25th inst. the house of SIMON STAHLHEIMER, No. 21 Greene-street, was entered by burglars forcing open the front basement door. The house being vacant and empty, the burglars were forced to content themselves with the lead pipes and brass knobs, about $75 worth of which they wrenched off and carried away. Detective QUINN, of the Eighth Precinct, working up the case, discovered that the exploit was due to a gang of boys, of whom he arrested THOMAS DORSEY, RICHARD LEWIS and JAMES BRETT. The two first admitted their guilt, and stated that they had sold portions of the stolen property to junk-dealers BERNARD MCCARDLE, No. 109 Mulberry-street, and JOHN BONNER, No. 114 Baxter-street, who were both immediately arrested. The prisoners were held in $1,000 bail each for trial at the General Sessions.

UNFORTUNATE SPECULATORS.

Friday night, an old family horse was stolen from the pasture of its owner, JOHN J. CRANE, of East Morrisania. The steed was cherished as a relic and family keepsake, but anything like fastness had never been ascribed to him, even in his youthful days. Yet he was sold faster than many a better animal, for in the day succeeding his abduction from the peaceful pasture he was brought to this City and changed hands no less than four times, and on constantly advancing terms, that must have been flattering to his vanity. The first sale was effected at $25; the next was made at $35, the third at $60, while on the fourth a jump was made to $125. A fifth transfer was indeed made, but it was on no quotable terms, for Detective BLACK, of the Ninth Precinct, took possession of the bewildered beast in the name of the law. He also took charge of DANIEL MCCURRIE, CORNELIUS DUGAN and JOHN QUINN, three of the purchasers, and brought them to the bar. Each of these was an innocent holder, and looking anxious to the party behind him for the money he had paid. The last holder, finding the horse slipping from his grasp, fell back on the one from whom he purchased, and each in turn doing the same, they all finally agreed that they had not been engaged in a very remunerative speculation. Mr. CRANE, in the end, will get his horse, and these hasty buyers will whistle for their money, and congratulate each other upon the dismissal of the charge of grand larceny made against them.

THE LOWER DEPTHS.

The complaint made by LOUISA CLARK, of No. 191½ Laurens-street, shows that one HENRY R. ELLIS, for the purpose of defrauding her of the wages of prostitution, pretended to be a Police officer, and sought to intimidate her by the show of a little brief authority. He was, however, arrested while disporting himself in this lower depth, and was committed, in default of $500 bail, for trial at the General Sessions.

NOT SWIFT OF FOOT.

JOHN DOONEY, seizing, as he supposed, that tide which "taken at the flood leads on to fortune," rushed into the store of FREDERICK EICHOFF, No. 319 Spring-street, snatched the contents of the money-drawer, amounting to $35, and then ran out. But not being sufficiently fleet of foot, he fell a victim to the hue and cry, and was captured by Officer SPIER, of the Twenty-eighth Precinct. He was committed for trial at the General Sessions.

DEFRAUDING HOTELS.

WESLEY BAIN, of No. 296 Third-avenue, caused the arrest of RUSH PATTERSON under the Hotel act of April, 1867, alleging that the prisoner had contracted a bill of $183 for the board of himself and family, which he had failed to pay, and had not offered to pay, except in checks which proved to be bogus and worthless. The prisoner was held for an examination on Monday next.

COURT OF APPEALS.

THE APPLETON CASE—APPEALABLE ORDER.

Samuel F. Appleton vs. Amelia Appleton.—The facts of this case, which have been before reported, are as follows: The defendant married in 1841 a Mr. Warner, and lived with him for some years. In 1856 Mr. Warner left her and went to California. In 1864 a suit was commenced on behalf of Mrs. Warner, in Indiana, for a divorce from Mr. Warner. The decree in that case was made on the 25th of April, but on the 19th of March the plaintiff and defendant were married, and the record of that marriage was post-dated. About a year afterward Mr. Appleton showed signs of mental alienation, and was removed by his brothers to an asylum. Mr. Warner about the same time returned from California, and a suit for divorce was commenced in the name of Mr. Appleton to declare the marriage void. Mrs. Appleton put in an answer, setting up that Mr. Warner had abandoned her and left her to struggle on as she best could; that from 1858 she had heard nothing from him, and presumed, and had the right to presume him dead before her marriage with Mr. Appleton, and claimed that this suit was not brought with Mr. Appleton's assent. She then applied through her counsel for alimony and counsel fee. Her motion was denied, the ground being taken by the Court that on her own admission judgment must go against her. She then applied to the Court for leave to amend her answer by inserting in it that before her marriage with Mr. Appleton she had fully informed him of all the facts known to her, and that under such full knowledge he had married her. The Court allowed the amendment, and on the new state of facts granted her a counsel of $1,000, and alimony pending the suit at the rate of $2,500 per annum, Judge Cardozo holding that the Court had not a mere ministerial function to declare the marriage void on the establishment of the fact of two living husbands, but had a discretion, on consideration of the whole circumstances, to decide whether the party seeking it was equitably entitled to the relief he asked, and that, in such a case, the defendant was entitled to the means to properly present such circumstances. From this decision the plaintiff appealed to the General Term, who reversed the decision of Cardozo, and from this last decision the defendant in turn appealed to this Court. The case was brought up yesterday by a motion to dismiss the appeal on the ground that the appeal from the General Term order was not allowable by the code, it not being a judgment nor an order in effect determining the action, nor a final order in a special proceeding, nor an order in a summary application after judgment, nor involving the constitutionality of any law; that even if it were within them it did not, since it was neither merits nor affected a substantial right; and that the allowance of alimony being discretionary, was not at any rate appealable to the Court of Appeals, though it was to the General Term. The Court checked all discussion of the merits.

The defendant in opposition contended that if the order were discretionary the appeal from the Special to the General Term was unauthorized, and Judge Cardozo's order was still valid and should be maintained by the Court of Appeals, but if not matter of discretion, then it was matter of substantial right on which the Court of Appeals should pass, denying the present motion and hearing the case on the merits.

The Court reserved its decision.

Mr. Smith for plaintiff for motion. Mr. Brady opposed.

WHAT CONSTITUTES CRIME.

John Wilson, plaintiff, in error, against the People, defendants, in error.—The appellant was tried for larceny from the person in the Court of General Sessions, convicted and sentenced to four years' imprisonment, and on appeal the General Term of the Supreme Court affirmed the conviction. The larceny was of a watch and about $20 in money from one Hafner. Part of the prisoner's defence was that he met Hafner and they went around together drinking till Hafner became intoxicated, that then, in presence of quite a number of persons, he took Hafner's watch and money to prevent his losing them, calling the attention of those present to the amount he took, thus precluding the idea that he then intended to steal it. The Court, however, charged that it was not necessary in order to find a verdict of guilty that the felonious intent existed at the time of the taking the watch and money, but it would be sufficient if such intent existed at the time the prisoner actually converted it to his own use. This is claimed by the counsel for the prisoner as error. To constitute larceny, the intent and the act must coexist, and the intent was a question for the jury. The subsequent conversion would be a different crime, subjecting him to a different punishment. The District-Attorney having availed himself of the right to submit points subsequently, Judge GROVER suggested to the counsel that, though they could not decide until the District-Attorney's points were before them, counsel had nothing more to do except to answer any cases that might appear on those points. Decision reserved.

Wm. F. Kintzing, of counsel for prisoner.

FRAUDULENT DESTRUCTION OF WILLS—REFEREE'S REPORTS.

Jane Voorhees vs. George W. Voorhees.—This is an appeal from a judgment entered on a Referee's report. In 1855 Mr. James Voorhees, being the owner of a farm in the town of Romulus, and of some personal property, made a will, by which he left his wife, the plaintiff, a provision in lieu of dower, and the rest of his property in different shares among his children. One of his daughters subsequently married a man to whom her father had taken a great dislike. In 1862, being then about 80, he procured his will from his lawyer, who took the precaution of copying it, and, it is alleged by both sides, destroyed it, and made a deed conveying the property to his son George W., the defendant in this action. In the early part of 1863 he died, and the plaintiff then commenced this action to establish the destroyed will and to cancel the deed, on the ground that by removing his father to his own house, and separating him from the plaintiff, and by treating him to intoxicating drinks, and by making false representations as to the plaintiff and his daughter, Letty Jane Covert and her husband, prejudicing his mind against them, he succeeded in his father's imbecility and unsoundness of mind in inducing him to take those steps.

The case was referred to Charles J. Folger, who reported in favor of the plaintiff, and this report was confirmed by the Courts below. The appellant now claims that the decision be reversed, because the statute requires that the will "shall be proved to have been in existence at the time of the death of the testator, or be shown to have been fraudulently destroyed" in his lifetime; that the referee does not find either one, but that it was lost or destroyed, and that, in fact, no evidence was before him to show which was the fact. But if this be sufficient, a will destroyed by the testator is not fraudulently destroyed within the meaning of the statute, that is if the testator then had testamentary capacity. But if both these points were decided against him, then that there was no evidence of fraud on the part of the defendant. The only false statement charged to him being that Letty Jane Covert's husband would, under the will, get a part of the property, and that this was a natural mis-statement, and not proof of fraud, and that the dislike of the testator arose independently of the defendant, and from his daughter's and her husband's own acts.

For the plaintiff it was contended that the Court could not review the referee's findings of fact; that the evidence was ample to support them; that the referee did find that the will was fraudulently destroyed in the lifetime of the testator, and that the fraud was the use of the undue influence obtained by the defendant, and his misrepresentations, and that on all grounds the judgment should be sustained.

The Court reserved its decision.

T. R. Strong, for plaintiff respondent; G. F. Danforth, for defendant appellant.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT—EASTERN DISTRICT OF NEW-YORK.

Before Judge Benedict.

INTERNAL REVENUE INFORMER—FORFEITURE BY AGREEMENT.

The United States vs. Ninety-five Barrels of Distilled Spirits.—BENEDICT, J.—This case comes before me upon a motion to confirm the report of a Commissioner to whom it was referred, to ascertain and report the person, if any, entitled to share as informer in the proceeds of the forfeiture of certain distilled spirits condemned and sold in this action. The report of the Commissioner is that one Joseph G. Ward is the person who first informed of the matter whereby the forfeiture was incurred; to which report objection is made by the District-Attorney, who, on the part of the Government, insists that under the facts disclosed no person is entitled to share as informer. I have examined the evidence with care, and am unable to agree with the Commissioner in his conclusion.

It appears that the forfeiture in this case was by consent in pursuance of an agreement made by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue; and upon a relinquishment by the Government of a portion of the proceeds of sale, so that in point of fact the Government has realized less than the amount of tax to secure which the spirits were in bond at the time of the seizure. Under such circumstances very convincing evidence would be necessary to justify the conclusion that facts sufficient to condemn the property had been communicated to the officers of the Government by any person.

Here the evidence is far from convincing to my mind, and viewed in its most favorable aspect, does not present a state of facts upon which I can feel justified in adjudging that a forfeiture of this property has been incurred by reason of any matter or thing first communicated to the proper officers of the Government.

The report, therefore, must be set aside, and the fund distributed to the proper officers of the Government.

COMMON PLEAS—SPECIAL TERM—SEPT. 29.

Before Judge Barrett.

ALLEGED ILLEGAL ISSUE OF STOCK AND BONDS OF A RAILWAY COMPANY.

James B. Hodgkins and another vs. The Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company et al.—This suit was commenced for the purpose of restraining the Directors of the Company from the issuing of new stock and bonds, on the ground that such issue will be a fraud on the stockholders. An injunction was granted in the case, but the plaintiffs now insist that this injunction has been violated by the issue of numerous bonds since the order restraining them was served upon the officers of the Company. The plaintiffs moved for an order to be directed to the Directors, Levi Parsons and John B. Dickerson, under that section of the Code which authorizes the taking of the testimony of persons unwilling to make their affidavits for use on a motion. They wish the testimony of these Directors to be taken before a referee. The order having been granted, a motion is now made by the defendants to vacate the same, on the ground that this case does not come within the provisions of the Code specified. The decision of the Court was reserved.

For the plaintiffs, Mr. Wehle; for the defendants, Mr. Choate.

COURT OF SPECIAL SESSIONS.

Before Justice Dowling.

Fifty-four cases were disposed of at the Sessions of yesterday, there being twenty-eight of petit larceny, twenty-three of assault and battery, one of personating an officer, one of cruelty to animals, and one of keeping disorderly house. The latter was dismissed in consequence of the complaint taken by the Police Magistrate being defective, an old, and now obsolete, form of affidavit having been used.

STEALING THE NEWS.

Josine Zachamazine, a youth of rugged and unkempt appearance, was charged by Thomas Nealey with stealing from the press-room of the TIMES a number of papers of Friday's edition, valued at $8. The boy was incoherent and unsatisfactory in his explanations of the matter, and was cut short in his speech by a sentence of one year in the House of Refuge.

A PROMISE EXACTED.

James Joy was arraigned for an assault upon his wife Julia, but she, being suffering and forgiving, pleaded earnestly in his behalf, saying he was a good man when sober. The Justice asked James if he would go before his priest and take the pledge of temperance, and, the prisoner answering affirmatively, he was discharged, with an admonition that if he did not keep his promise he would receive the heaviest sentence permitted by the law.

BUSHWHACKING.

At 7 o'clock in the morning Robert Canton and Patrick Murphy had a dispute, concerning some trifling matter, in a livery stable where the latter is employed. It ended harmlessly at the time, but two hours later, Murphy returning from an errand, Canton sprang upon him, from a carriage wherein he was ambuscaded, and dealt him a blow on the head with a hammer that caused a very serious wound. The Magistrate, considering these facts established by the evidence, assessed the outrage at $50, which Canton was condemned to pay.

TUESDAY, Sept. 29—P. M.

The Custom-house returns of the Foreign Trade at New-York for the month of August have just been rendered. The figures are given below, together with a summary of the Foreign Trade at this port for the eight months of the Calendar year, in comparison with 1867.

The Import entries for August, 1868, at New-York, compare as follows with the corresponding month of the previous year, viz.:

	Aug., 1868.	Aug., 1867.
Dutiable goods, direct	$14,005,112	$13,547,834
Dutiable, bonded	8,280,600	9,340,292
Free goods	828,188	844,664
Total August entries	$23,113,900	$23,732,790

There was also entered during the month Foreign Specie of the value of $846,821, against $540,244 same month last year.

The value of Foreign Merchandise of previous importation withdrawn from bond, $9,676,657, or $1,396,057 more than went into bond during the month, so that the amount of merchandise actually marketed during the month, dutiable and free, is $24,509,957, on which the Gold Customs collected amount to $11,995,596, or at an average rate of duty on all the marketed imports (including free articles) of 49 ₱ cent. The amount marketed in August, 1867, was $24,882,548, and the Customs $12,623,300.

The comparative value of Foreign Goods entered at the Port of New-York, and of Foreign Goods actually marketed during the eight months of the years 1868 and 1867, were as follows:

	1868. Jan. 1 to Aug. 31.	1867. Jan. 1 to Aug. 31.
Total entries	$170,577,530	$181,793,246
Total marketed	$160,326,170	$172,682,887
Customs paid	76,684,265	81,483,422
Average tariff	48 ₱ cent.	47⅛ ₱ cent.

In addition to the above there was entered of Foreign Specie during the eight months $5,012,163, against $2,153,546 last year.

The actual monthly consumption (or values marketed) of Foreign Merchandise at New-York in the eight months of 1867 and 1868 will compare as follows:

Total 8 months	$172,193,344	$162,403,004

The sales of Gold to-day, for delivery to-morrow, were at 141½@141⅝@141⅜@141½ ₱ cent., and for cash delivery the transactions were at 142@142½@142¼ ₱ cent. The differences paid for a single day were ¼@½@⅝ and in one or two instances, at the last hour of settling the operations of yesterday, as much as ⅞ ₱ cent. was paid for the use of Gold until to-morrow. The Treasury Office sold for Cash, to-day, about $500,000 at 142½@142¼ ₱ cent. The Office received, to-day, about the same amount for Customs. The scarcity of Cash Gold, and the difference paid for its use for a single day completely demoralized the Foreign Exchanges. The Bankers who had Gold on hand were not disposed to buy Bills, except on very low terms, because they could use their Gold to better advantage. Others who wanted Gold for immediate delivery accepted 108⅜ on London, while the regular quotation continued at 108⅝@108⅞ ₱ cent. Merchant Bills, made either here or at the South, drawn against the shipment of Cotton, grain, &c., fared still worse, where the proceeds were wanted at once in Gold, and the quotation for this class of Exchange was wholly irregular. At the close of the day appearances in and around the Gold-room indicated that the corner on the Cash Gold would be at least partially relaxed to-morrow. The last sales for to-morrow's delivery about 4 o'clock were at 141½ ₱ cent.

On the Stock Exchange it was early reported that the rates for Money, on call, to the Brokers, had been advanced about 1 ₱ cent. on yesterday's quotations, the extremes being from 4@5 ₱ cent. on the Public Funds of the United States and other prime collateral, ranking with them to 5@6 ₱ cent. on Miscellaneous Stock collateral. This change, which was substantially confirmed at the close of the day, though unaccompanied by anything like a scarcity of Money, or even a sharp demand, was amplified as to its immediate or probable effect by the speculators on the Exchange, and the parties operating for a decline either in the Public Funds or the Railway Shares were encouraged to sell with increased freedom, while the buyers, who are looking to higher figures, operated with caution. The depression in the Public Funds was from ⅛@⅝ ₱ cent., the lowest sales of 5-20s of 1862 and 1867 being made after the last Government Board broke up; these being ¼@⅜ ₱ cent. below the printed sales. The report that one of the outside operators in the Public Funds was in some difficulty partially added to the depression.

The Railway market was under considerable excitement through the day, and the surprise seemed to be that prices, as compared with yesterday, yielded so little. After the close of Bank hours, some of the Brokers reported that they had paid 7 ₱ cent. for Money to carry over their Stocks, and this contributed to the eagerness of sellers at the 3:15 P. M. Open Board; though a very large business was the result, and at prices corresponding with the Second session of the Old Board; Erie being the weakest and Reading and Rock Island the most active of the Railways.

After the late Boards broke up the following quotations were made, as compared with Monday night. The Public Funds partially steadier; Gold steady, and the Railways feverish:

The day's business at the office of the Assistant Treasurer was as follows: Total receipts, $3,685,580 78; for Customs, $448,000; Gold Notes, $52,000. Total payments, $1,057,316 88; balance, $97,907,398 48.

The week's exports of Domestic Produce and Miscellaneous goods have been to the currency value of $2,686,708. Included in the exports were 881 bales Cotton.

An attractively printed pamphlet, beautifully illustrated, detailing the progress of the Union Pacific Railroad westward from Omaha, Nebraska, has just been issued by the Company, at whose office, No. 20 Nassau-street, or at the offices of Mr. JOHN J. CISCO, Treasurer of the Company, copies can be obtained free of charge. The sketch of the enterprise comprises 820 miles of completed roadway, bringing the history of this great national undertaking up to Sept. 20, 1868.

The Dry Goods market opens heavily for domestic cottons, and less buoyantly for domestic woolens, on a somewhat restricted business. In foreign fabrics there has been a fairly active movement, but prices have exhibited rather less firmness in private trade. Several catalogues were offered at auction to-day, comprising attractive offerings of Dress, Millinery, Embroidery and Trimming Goods. At these sales the attendance was generally quite large, and the bidding comparatively brisk for all really desirable stock, which sold promptly at fair prices, as a rule. In fact, these sales constituted the most notable feature of the day's operations; and, in view of the diminished animation and buoyancy in private, were decidedly successful.

The movements in Breadstuffs during the past fortnight, Messrs. EDWARD BILL & Co. notice thus:

"We have again to note an irregular and inactive trade in Flour and a consequent decline in price, particularly on choice brands from Spring Wheat which are in excess of the demand. There is more inquiry for the Common Extras for export at the late declined rates and a fair local trade, but the article is generally held above the views of shippers. For the better qualities of Winter Wheat Flour there is more firmness and less disposition to force upon a dull market. California of the new crop is wanted, and a few sales have been made at fair rates. The stock of Old, (consisting of Superfine and Common Extras,) is slowly reducing—that description not suiting the City retail trade. The transactions in Wheat, owing to the reduced limits on foreign orders and advanced rates of English freights, have not been as heavy as was expected, and the market has been irregular and is several cents lower. The receipts at the Western ports and at the seaboard are not as free as usual, the farmers generally not being ready sellers at the ruling rates. At the close yesterday the supplies were light, owing to a stoppage on the Erie Canal, prices were lower and the trade dull. Barley is in request, with a small stock. Rye is quiet, and nominal in value. Oats are in liberal supply, and prices irregular under speculative influence. Indian Corn, under free receipts and less favorable foreign advices, is heavy, but closed rather stronger, with some speculative inquiry.

The export clearances from this port for the fortnight past consist of: To Great Britain and Ireland, 7,841 bbls. Flour, 263,267 bushels Wheat, 128,433 bushels Corn; to South America, 7,852 bbls. Flour, 2,010 bushels Wheat, 1,000 bushels Corn; to all other ports, 21,182 bbls. Flour, 80 bbls. Rye Flour, 6,969 bbls. Corn Meal, 89,380 bushels Corn, 142 bushels Oats, 959 bushels Peas—making a total to all ports of 36,875 bbls. Flour, 80 bbls. Rye Flour, 6,969 bbls. Corn Meal, 265,297 bushels Wheat, 138,871 bushels Corn, 142 bushels Oats, 959 bushels Peas."

3. By law they can be issued to the Company only as the road is completed, so that they always represent a real value.

4. Their amount is limited by act of Congress to Fifty Million Dollars, or an average of less than $30,000 per mile.

5. Hon. E. D. MORGAN, of the United States Senate, and Hon. OAKES AMES, of the United States House of Representatives, are the Trustees for the bondholders, to see that all their interests are protected.

6. Five Government Directors, appointed by the President of the United States, are responsible to the country for the management of its affairs.

7. Three United States Commissioners must certify that the road is well built and equipped, and in all respects a first-class railway, before any bonds can be issued upon it.

8. The United States Government lends the Company its own bonds to the same amount that the Company issues, for which it takes a second mortgage as security.

9. As additional aid, it makes an absolute donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile lying upon each side of the road.

10. The bonds pay Six per Cent. in gold. The principal is also payable in gold.

11. The earnings from the local or way business were over Four Million Dollars last year, or much more than sufficient to pay the interest.

12. The earnings upon the completed line of the only railroad connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans will doubtless show a larger surplus over its interest account than any other.

13. The line will be completed next Summer. Three-fourths of it will be completed this Autumn.

14. The Bonds have thirty years to run. Many have already gone to Europe, and it is probable that when no more can be issued, they will command a higher premium than the shorter obligations of the United States Treasury. A long bond, at a high rate of interest, is always better than a short one.

15. The Union Pacific Railroad is a Government work, built under the supervision of Government officers—and to a large extent with Government money. No other Bonds of a private corporation are made so secure.

16. No political party can reduce their rate of interest, nor can they be paid off in currency.

The price for the present is 102, but the right to advance is reserved.

Subscriptions will be received at the Company's Office, No. 20 Nassau-st., New-York, and by John J. Cisco & Son, Bankers, No. 56 Wall-st., where a new pamphlet containing a full description of the Pacific Railroad and its securities can be obtained.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

The Moniteur reports that the Spanish army under Marshal PAIVA, at last accounts, was completely surrounded by the insurgents, and is probably captured. Santanda has been retaken from the royal troops, and Cadiz has been declared a free port. JOSE DE LA CONCHA, the head of the Government in Madrid, and MANUEL DE LA CONCHA, in command of the royal army in the field, have resigned. The Queen, who is still at San Sebastian, has sent for the Count of CHESTE to form a new Ministry, and has also summoned a Council of State to meet at San Lepactian. Paris papers despair of the Queen's cause. Dispatches from London state that Barcelona is expected to declare against the Queen as soon as Gen. PRIM's fleet of iron-clads appear. It is rumored that the insurrection has at last broken out at Madrid, and that the Queen has crossed the French frontier.

The steamship Cuba, from Liverpool Sept. 19, and Queenstown Sept. 20, reached this port yesterday.

GENERAL.

The Alabama Delegation had a final interview with the President, at Washington, yesterday. The Secretary of War was present. The delegation were assured that all necessary aid would be furnished to the State Government in case of any transgression upon its authority, and that Gen. MEADE shall be instructed accordingly. The delegation express themselves highly gratified with the success of their mission.

Another Indian fight is probable on the Plains. Six hundred Indians crossed the Pacific near Monument, Kansas, and it is thought they are preparing to make an attack on all the stations along the route. The citizens are armed, and the troops ready for any emergency.

For the relief of the sufferers by the late flood in Maryland upward of $29,000 were raised by subscription, and $50,000 were appropriated by the Baltimore City Council. The number of families relieved was 1,034, comprising 7,883 persons, to whom $50,260 20 were distributed in sums of from $10 to $250. Of the entire sum $4,115 were given to colored persons. Relief was also afforded to Ellicott City, Sykesville and other places injured by the flood. The total amount expended by the Commission was $56,832 47.

By order of the Adjutant-General of North Carolina the military of the State are to be enrolled at the same time the voters are registered. The white and colored militia are to be enrolled separately.

By the recent rains the bottom lands of the Clinch, French, Broad and Holston Rivers, in East Tennessee, were flooded, and corn, in great quantities, is rotting on the stalk.

Mrs. ANN WALLACE, who resided in Richland County, Wis., was recently murdered by a young man named NEVILLE. His object was to gain possession of some money she was known to have. NEVILLE was caught and lynched by the citizens.

The large coal-oil refinery of WM. ELKINS, at West Philadelphia, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday morning. Loss $45,000. Twenty-five hundred barrels of crude oil were burned.

Prof. AGASSIZ and Hon. Mr. HOOPER, of Massachusetts, left Omaha for the East yesterday morning.

Complete returns of the condition of the crops throughout Ontario are published, and show, on the whole, that a good average harvest has been obtained.

WM. JEWELL was arraigned in the Criminal Court at Boston, yesterday, for severely stabbing WM. H. DIX, and held in $1,500 bail for trial. JEWELL is a sporting man, and DIX keeps a drinking saloon.

A tournament was held in Knoxville, Tenn., yesterday, to raise funds for the establishment of a cemetery for the rebel dead. It closed with a ball last evening.

Hon WILLIAM STRONG has resigned the office of Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, which he has held nearly eleven years, on account of the inadequacy of the compensation.

SAMUEL B. CLARK, of Chicopee, who received an appointment to the Naval Academy from Hon. Mr. DAWES, after a competitive examination at Springfield, has been rejected by the Naval Board on account of near-sightedness in one eye, caused by hard study, and which oculists say will be only temporary.

Gen. CUSTER has been ordered to report to Gen. SHERMAN, to assume immediate command of his regiment, which is to immediately engage in a campaign against the Indians.

A portion of the Twenty-ninth Regiment left Lynchburg, Va., for Memphis, Tenn., by order of the Secretary of War.

A crowd of two thousand men from the fishing fleet invaded Portsmouth, N. H., on Friday, and took possession of the town. Gardens and orchards were robbed, pistols fired, and a general riot indulged in. The Police, after a hard-fought battle, arrested thirteen of the ritoers and lodged them safely in jail.

A man was killed, and three others seriously wounded, by the bursting of a locomotive on the Connellsville Railroad, at Pittsburg, Penn., yesterday morning.

A band of several hundred men attacked the Republican mass meeting in Pittsburg, Penn., yesterday afternoon, with clubs and stones. Several persons were seriously injured.

The progress of the canvass in Pennsylvania is noted in the letters from our correspondent in that State, which we publish this morning. Everything is encouraging for the Republicans.

The Board of Health met yesterday afternoon. Dr. HARRIS, Registrar of Vital Statistics, reported that during the week, ending Saturday last, 454 deaths occurred in this City, and 193 in Brooklyn. Of these 56 per cent. in New-York, were of children under five years of age, and in Brooklyn 65 per cent. Much of the mortality in both cities was ascribed to foul-air influences. The Sanitary Superintendent reported that since July 1, the Board had removed 6,805 loads of refuse matter from the streets, at an expense of $10,578 61. It was resolved to continue the work untill the balance of the appropriation, $9,421 39, shall have been exhausted.

Last evening the twenty-sixth anniversary of the Order of the Sons of Temperance, and also of New-York Division No. 1 of that organization, was celebrated in the Spring-street Presbyterian Church. Mr. ALBERT TURNER presided, and Messrs. SAMUEL MCKEAN, J. N. STEARNS, EDGERLY, and others, delivered addresses. Prof. FROBISHER read an original poem, and the Philharmonic Glee Club contributed some excellent music.

A meeting of the Ninth Assembly District Grant and Colfax Boys in Blue was held at No. 10 Abington-square, last evening, at which speeches were made by Gen. RUSH C. HAWKINS and Col. GAGE.

A meeting of Workingwoman's Association No. 2 took place last evening, at the Workingwoman's Home, No. 45 Elizabeth-street. Miss SUSAN B. ANTHONY addressed the 250 boarders upon the subjects both of woman suffrage and coöperation in labor, and at the close of her remarks was presented with a rich bouquet as a token of appreciation of her address there last week, and of her unceasing efforts for the amelioration of her sex, both materially and spiritually.

The tenth annual exhibition of the New-Jersey State Agricultural Society commenced yesterday at their grounds, at Waverley, N. J., and will continue for four days.

Cotton was more active and quoted a trifle dearer yesterday. Breadstuffs and Provisions were in moderate request, as a rule; prices closed generally in favor of buyers. Groceries attracted less attention. Moderate Freight engagements were reported at a shade stronger rates.

The Financial Issue.

The Democratic managers of the Pennsylvania canvass are trying to escape the odium of a ruinous financial policy by a bold manœuvre. Discarding the Republican record, they proclaim that Gen. GRANT agrees with Mr. PENDLETON as to the payment of Five-twenties in greenbacks, and that Gen. GRANT's Western friends always present him on a Greenback platform. Among others, the Philadelphia Age makes this statement;

> "GRANT, if he has any policy about anything, holds the doctrine universal in the West about paying in greenbacks. In that region all GRANT's political friends take care to put him on the Democratic platform, before they show him to a Western audience. We published, a few days ago, the speech of Mr. BAKER in Indiana, to that effect."

The issue between the parties on financial questions is best defined by their respective platforms. It is not necessary to travel beyond these for proof of the differences that separate them. The Republicans are committed, as a party, to the redemption of the bonds according to their letter and spirit—in gold. They declare, however, that the period of redemption should be extended, and that the burden should be reduced by so improving the national credit that the present bonds may be converted into others bearing a lower rate of interest. Their policy, in short, is one of good faith toward the public creditor, of relief to the tax-payer, and of an appreciated currency. The Democrats, on the other hand, have adopted a policy which binds them to the payment of the bonds in greenbacks, and the issue of greenbacks for that purpose. Theirs is a policy of inflation as well as repudiation. They propose not only to break faith with the creditor, but to upset all values and involve the business of the country in embarrassment and ruin by adding to the circulation of depreciated paper.

Plans so opposite cannot be confounded by mere mistake. No man desiring to speak the truth can assert, as the result of a comparison, that they are identical. Copperheadism and Radicalism, in relation to reconstruction, are not further apart than are Republicanism and Democracy in relation to finance. The grounds of difference are not open to controversy. They form the bases on which the two candidates respectively stand, and no dissent on the part of individuals can lessen their authority.

The operative force of both platforms is seen in the altered positions of prominent members of the two parties. Those of the Republican leaders whose views were originally at variance with the authoritative utterances of their party, have been constrained to surrender or greatly to modify their opinions. Gen. BUTLER, for instance, did not obtain his renomination until he planted himself squarely on the financial planks of the Chicago platform. And Senator MORTON has done the same; so far changing his idea as to the obligation of the Government as to bring himself in entire harmony with his party. Neither of these gentlemen ever held the Pendletonian doctrine pure and simple. Neither ever proposed to manufacture greenbacks for the sole purpose of paying off the debt. They differed with their party only on the question of right on the part of the bondholders and duty on the part of the Government. Even this theoretical difference the pressure of opinion in the party has obliged them to abandon—a circumstance which indicates the unity of the party in support of its platform, and the rigor of the opinion by which the legislation of the party will be shaped. Gov. BAKER, of Indiana, whom the Age calls as a witness, is not an exception to the rule. In his discussions with Senator HENDRICKS, indeed, he affirms his personal opinion on the abstract phase of the question, but his practical statements are all in explanation and vindication of the Republican policy. And so it is everywhere. Eastern Republicans and Western Republicans are as one. In Pennsylvania or in Indiana, Gen. GRANT is the same. He is the representative of a party pledged to uphold the national credit by adhering to the spirit of contracts; and in the West, as in the East, his cordial approval of the policy of national honesty is one of the grounds on which his election is advocated.

Nor is the pressure of the Democratic Party upon its leaders less conspicuous. The shame and unprofitableness of repudiation have more than once formed the theme of GOV. SEYMOUR's eloquent indignation. He shared with Mr. HOFFMAN a horror of that reckless financiering which, until July, was supposed to attach exclusively to the Western Democracy. Both insisted that there should be no tampering with the spirit of the contract with the public creditor; that the only currency in which the bonds could be honestly paid is "the currency of the world." Both, too, were accustomed to depict in vivid colors the confusion and distress that must be consequent upon the multiplication of greenbacks. They saw in inflation a sure road to disaster. Yet they and the whole tribe of hard-money Democrats have thrown overboard their convictions, swallowed their scruples and become indorsers of the New-York Convention, with its policy of repudiation and inflation. The task could not but be mortifying to them. They had, however, no alternative. The Democratic platform is an expression of the principles and purposes of the Democratic Party, whose will is imperious, and to the leaders, conclusive.

The plea often resorted to when platforms are mentioned is, then, not available in regard to the financial issue. There can be no pretence, on either side, that the resolves on this subject are mere generalities, which members of the party may interpret according to their individual preferences. On both sides, the assertion of principle and purpose is specific and absolute. No room is left for equivocation or doubt. Repudiators and inflationists have no standing ground among Republicans, while the Democracy bid them welcome.

The nature of this issue and its intimate connection with the future of business and finance are not overlooked by the people. The number of those who share Mr. MCCULLOCH's peculiarity of financial vision, and who allow their aversion to reconstruction to override their horror of repudiation, is happily not large. We know that in this City moneyed men who have hitherto voted with the Democrats will next November vote against them solely because of their financial policy; and doubtless the same may be said of the country generally. That policy may suit reckless and insolvent speculators, but it can have no claim upon the support of those who would place commerce on a healthy foundation, and regulate finance by the rules of honesty. Western Democrats already find their calculations baffled by the sober sense of the community; and their experience will be shared by the whole party when the verdict on this financial issue shall have been pronounced.

Gen. Dix and the Democracy.

The St. Louis Republican tries to break the force of Gen. DIX's letter by saying that "Gen. DIX has not acted with the Democratic Party proper since the war began in 1861." That is perfectly true. From the moment the war began, Gen. DIX has been on the side of his country; and of course he could not act with the Democratic Party proper. That party was either actively aiding the rebellion in the field, or giving it aid and comfort by its political action at the North. It was opposing the Government,—denouncing the war as unjust and unconstitutional,—resisting the draft,—assailing the public credit, and in every conceivable way crippling its endeavors to suppress the rebellion. As a matter of course, Gen. DIX did not act with it.

Nor was there any love lost between the General and the Democratic Party. The moment it was known that he would stand by the country, the party threw him overboard. He no longer had its confidence. He had gone over to the enemy and his name was dropped from the Democratic record. Precisely the same thing happened to him which happened to every other Democrat when he refused to countenance the rebellion, and upheld the Government in making war upon it; he ceased to act with the "Democratic Party proper"; he had to go outside its limits to get recognition and a chance to serve the country. He either acted with some new organization, or else openly joined the Union ranks. The "party proper" would have nothing more to do with him, nor does it to this day.

The Republican is right, therefore, in saying that Gen. DIX has not acted with the Democratic Party proper since the war began in 1861. Yet in another article the same paper says that Gen. DIX abandoned the party proper and "went over to the enemy" the moment he lost the nomination! How could that be, if he had never acted with it since 1861?

Besides, who ever heard that he was a candidate for the nomination? Who ever dreamed that the Democrats would adopt him as their representative? He was talked of in 1864, and was pressed by some Democrats who hoped to save the party from utter destruction by bringing it to the side of the Union. But the effort failed. The Democratic Party was too much under rebel and Copperhead influence to listen to any such suggestion. It voted the war a "failure," and nominated the man who had done the most to make it one. The temper and spirit of the Democratic Party proper is now precisely what it was then.

Suffrage and the States.

The Louisville Journal expends much angry rhetoric on an alleged purpose of the Republicans to force negro suffrage on all the States by Congressional enactment. "Under the fourteenth article," the Journal asserts, "the party unanimously and avowedly claims the power of Congress to establish negro suffrage in all the States;" and it adds:

> "The Congressional establishment of negro suffrage in all the unreconstructed States in general, and in Kentucky and Maryland and Delaware in particular, is the fixed policy of the Radical Party. It is COLFAX's policy. It is the policy of the controlling wing of the party. It is the policy of the party. It is GRANT's policy. It is the policy of the whole concern. And GRANT's election will be the signal for the execution of the policy. Men of the North, if you want the policy executed, give the signal. If you wish negro suffrage forced upon you, elect GRANT. His election will assure the speedy gratification of your wish. The forcing of negro suffrage on Kentucky and Maryland and Delaware and the whole North will follow GRANT's election as the night the day."

It is hardly necessary to say that the Fourteenth Amendment is not, and never has been, regarded by the Republican Party as conferring on Congress the power which the Journal says it is about to claim. The whole bearing of the amendment on the question of suffrage is confined to the reduction of representation as a penalty of disfranchisement on account of race or color. Under this provision, when the next apportionment is made, Kentucky, Maryland and Delaware may find their representative power lessened in consequence of the exclusion of their colored citizens; but beyond this, the new article can have no scope.

Equally untrue is it to allege that the Republican policy involves an invasion of the rights of States which have never been out of the Union. The Chicago platform is explicit on the subject. It properly sustains the authority of Congress over the suffrage in States whose constitutional rights were forfeited by rebellion; but so far as the States not so compromised are concerned, it fully recognizes their exclusive jurisdiction over the suffrage question. And this is now, as it always has been, the view cherished by the party. A small body of extremists have claimed for Congress power over the subject, without the slightest reference, however, to the Fourteenth Amendment, which at the time had not been adopted. But the pretension has never been entertained by the Republicans in Congress, and is flatly disclaimed in the platform on which the party stands. By that statement of policy, and not by the inventions of its enemies, let it be judged.

The National Labor Congress—Interests of the Working Classes.

The proceedings of the Convention of mechanics and laborers which has been assembled in this City of late, have met with far less attention from the Press than they rightly claimed.

To all who desire to understand the affairs of the day and to look beneath the surface, at the movements which are ultimately to affect profoundly the interests of society, such assemblies and their speeches and drift of thought are of the highest importance. Whenever labor in the United States shall determine unanimously that it will be represented in legislative bodies, and that its ideas shall be embodied in legislation, it will undoubtedly succeed at least for a time. The working classes can always hold the balance of power, even if they can do no more. Moreover, whatever labor as an interest may attempt to accomplish in its relations to capital—even if the effort be unwise and impracticable—it will have only too strong an influence on the material progress of the whole country.

A careful study of the proceedings of this Convention reveals what has always been the defect of assemblies and combined movements of the laboring class—the injury which half education does to men who attempt to manage public interests. Had a few of the leaders of this Convention thoroughly "thought out" the questions on which they could prepare such glib resolutions, they would have advanced much better the interests of the workingmen and have influenced the public far more favorably.

One of the articles in the constitution adopted by the Convention was, if we understood it correctly, a resolution in favor of "an exclusive paper currency," and of paying bonds by greenbacks and funding greenbacks in bonds.

This vote indicates, we suppose, among the workingmen, a preference for an inconvertible paper currency over specie, and a desire to get rid of a part of the debt by paying it in depreciated paper.

When it is remembered what an axiom in economical science the world over, it is that inconvertible paper is simply the robbery of labor, and that depreciation of our public securities would weigh most of all on the mechanical and laboring class, we can not but wonder that the guides and heads of this assembly did not explain such a simple matter to the members. The delusion about paper currency is fostered among the laboring class, by their always judging of values from prices. The same error, together with the fact that a farmer's sales are made at once and his purchases come in gradually, misled the Western agriculturists, and for a long time the fallacy had a deep root that inconvertible paper or much paper currency is a blessing to the farmer. But the West is full of men of thought; discussion and investigation are going on everywhere; the farmer's practical experience, too, is showing him that he more than loses by his purchases the advanced profits of his sales, and that price is of little consequence compared to value; so that now public opinion there has much changed on the question of a paper dollar as a standard of value. The greenback fallacy, however, still exists, and even so intelligent a man as Gov. BAKER is found proposing to pay the bonds in part by greenbacks and then funding the six per cent. with a four per cent. loan—as if men changed sixty dollars for forty from mere caprice, or as if public credit could stand a day if a creditor were forced to take the less for the greater.

But the intelligence which is chasing away these financial mists in the West has not reached our laboring classes. And yet they have had facts enough to teach them. Let any mechanic take the last three years and compare his condition with that of the three years before the war. During the war, he must remember, he had an artificial and most liberal patron—the Government—but now he has to depend on natural customers. His wages are high, it is true, but what are his payments? What are his savings at the end of the year, and what do those savings represent in goods or luxuries, or houses and lands? For every pound of coffee, every barrel of flour, every package of tea, every pound of meat, every yard of carpet he buys, he pays not merely the usual profit to the retailer, but the profit required by the uncertainty of the standard of value, which is a most arbitrary and uncertain rate, and leaves the laboring class especially exposed to the sharp dealings of speculators. He hardly buys an article on which he does not pay a tax. His dollar is not only not worth 75 cents in gold, but its purchasing power is much less. His savings too are uncertain in value. If his own theories of greenback-payment of bonds were carried out, his five hundred or thousand dollars in bank money fall still lower in value.

Mr. WILKINSON states that the tax-returns show the sales of commodities in the country, omitting stocks, bonds and real estate, to be over $11,000,000,000 a year. "One per cent.," he justly says, would be a low estimate by every dealer of his risk in dealing with a fluctuating measure of value; two per cent. would probably be much nearer the tax laid by middlemen and dealers on consumers, which would make an annual tax of $200,000,000 paid in more than equal shares by labor. Had the National Labor Congress passed a resolution in favor of sweating coin or adulterating gold and silver money, or recommending the middlemen and speculators to lay a tax of a hundred millions on labor, it would have been on a par in wisdom and enlightenment with the resolution passed. It is only too well-known that no device was ever invented for robbing the laboring class, so efficient as an adulterated coinage or inconvertible paper.

Then again, what would be the effect on the interests of mechanics and laborers, if the public debt were paid in greenbacks, as their resolutions also recommend. Such a measure can only be carried out by a gradual increase of paper currency, and thus all the evils labor has been suffering from an uncertain standard of value, would be indefinitely increased. Each mechanic and workman would every day be paying an additional tax to the middleman, while his own wages would not rise at once in proportion to the depreciation of the currency. He would be at the mercy of speculators. Of course, Government securities would steadily fall; Europe would pour our bonds in for sale before the lowest stage of depreciation was reached. As this went gradually on, capitalists would quietly sell out and leave the heavier loss on the working and middle classes. The savings of labor are mainly in savings banks, annuity companies, life and fire insurance companies, and like associations. These have their funds principally in Government bonds or secured by them.

Their profits would at once fall off, and the value of their investments diminish. Each mechanic's deposit or insurance would immediately decrease in value, and his property thus be lessened. The final result would probably be an utter destruction of the public credit, and untold sufferings and calamity to the poor and the laborers in the process.

And yet not one among the leaders of this Convention was found with sufficient intelligence or independence to unfold this simple law to the workingmen.

The Prevention of Fire at Sea—The Case of the Melita.

The recent destruction by fire in mid-ocean of the British steamship Melita, bound from Boston to Liverpool, was fortunately unattended by any loss of life. This was entirely due to the fortuitous appearance on the scene, at the critical moment, of another vessel, the American ship Jacob A. Stamler, on board of which the passengers and crew found refuge. Had the Stamler not hove in sight the chances are that the burning of the Melita would have to be catalogued in the long lists of fearful disasters on the ocean, by which thousands of human beings have been carried to a dreadful death, and the risk of incurring which, in some form or another, is always attendant upon making a voyage.

It ought to be the duty of shipowners and shipmasters to lessen these risks in every possible manner; and the matter should not be left optional with them, either. The law should require, under severe penalty for neglect, that all vessels, especially those engaged in the passenger trade, be provided with every well-tested appliance for saving life, either in the event of fire or of any other misfortune. After reading the various narratives of the destruction of the Melita, we are persuaded that the calamity might have been averted by a very simple arrangement which some steamship owners have shown wisdom in adopting, and with which every steamship, whether she carry passengers or not, ought to be provided. We refer to a small steampipe which should be attached to the boiler, and used in case of fire to conduct steam into the cargo-holds, having valves so arranged that they may be easily regulated from the deck. In this manner, on the breaking out of a fire, the hold or holds could in a few moments be filled with steam, without cutting holes in the deck, lifting hatches or otherwise affording entrance to the air, and thus the flames be quickly checked, if not instantly smothered.

The ill-fated steamship Melita was not furnished with one of these simple appliances, and very soon after the danger was discovered a hole was cut in her deck, in order to pump water upon the fire, the exact locality of which nobody could possibly tell. Thus was the air admitted to feed the flames, without which they must have expired,—a decided mistake on the part of the Captain, but of a character, however, which almost every man would be apt to make in his desire to save his ship and the lives intrusted to his care. The fire might have been far from the hole which was cut in the deck to let in the water; it might have been, and in all probability it was, near the upper part of the cargo. If such were the case, before the flames could be quenched the hold would have to be filled, or nearly so, and the danger of destruction by foundering, in addition to that of burning, would be experienced.

Fire is the greatest of all dangers to which ships are exposed at sea, and no more effective method of diminishing the risk from this cause has been devised than that which we have described. The cost of applying this device is very small indeed, and if Congress would compel the use of it on American steamships, the Governments of England, France and other maritime Powers would soon follow the example. Much property and thousands of lives would in this manner receive increased protection.

MINOR TOPICS.

The Lynchburg Virginian says it is very obvious that "some change" has occurred at the North to inspire the Republicans with the strongest hopes of success in the Presidential election. The October elections are to settle the whole question. If Pennsylvania and Ohio go against the Democrats, says the Virginian, "the cause will be lost;" if not there will still be room for hope. And it proceeds to show that if the cause is lost, it will be in consequence of the ultra and absurd action of the Democratic National Convention.

Hon. Mr. BARRINGER, of North Carolina—since the rebellion known as Gen. BARRINGER, but formerly a prominent Southern Whig—has written an able letter of acceptance of his nomination as a Grant elector, (which we publish to-day.) Mr. BARRINGER opposes the Democratic Party because it is the party of reaction and counter-revolution, the party of disorder for the South and renewed trouble for all the country. He upholds GRANT because his administration means pacification, freedom, order and prosperity. It is pleasant to listen to his predictions of better days for the South, and for North Carolina, under the new order of things:

> "We (the South)" says he, "are now practically at the end of our revolution. We have reached its logical results—freedom for all the Union, and the equality of all before the law. The country is comparatively quiet. All classes are safe in life, liberty and property. We now need only peace and time to recuperate. Things will settle down sooner than we suppose. * * * Providence seems at last to smile upon us. With a fair crop planted, and better worked than ever before, we have good reasons to hope for the return of prosperity and plenty."

We have never doubted that the Old North State would cast its vote for GRANT by a large majority; but the Democrats have even a less show there now than they have had at any previous time. It ought to give at least the 20,000 majority promised for GRANT.

Dr. J. MARION SIMS, whose medical and surgical ability has commanded the recognition and respect of Europe as well as of his own country, has returned from Paris, where he has been living for the last two or three years, and is about to resume practice in this City. He will be welcomed, not only by those who are familiar with his professional reputation, but by all who know and appreciate his noble and admirable personal character. He has won very great distinction and has enjoyed a most extended and lucrative practice in the very highest circles of nearly all the countries of Europe, especially in the treatment of diseases peculiar to women, and has won great credit for American surgery by the discovery and introduction of new modes of treatment, and by the success which has attended his practice.

We should like to see the law administered upon some one of the druggists who so frequently make mistakes in putting up prescriptions that result in the loss of life. The latest case, in which a dose of oxalic acid was put up for Epsom salts, and resulted in the death of the elderly gentleman who took it, calls for something else than a verdict whitewashing all parties concerned.

The special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, called on Monday last, "to take measures for the relief of the sufferers by the recent earthquake," was a failure, and the subject was deferred until Monday next. Anything that may be done in this matter should be done quickly. The Governments of Peru and Chili have subscribed liberally for the sufferers, and large amounts of money have been collected for the same purpose in the principal cities of these two countries. We believe that a number of gentlemen in this City, including the editor of the Spanish journal El Cronista, are making active exertions to raise means among our merchants with the same charitable and humane object in view.

A Republican paper expresses apprehension that the "Roman Catholic vote" will be nearly solid against the Republican ticket, and thinks GRANT will be lucky if he gets fifty thousand of the million voters belonging to that creed. In the same way, it is believed that the Jewish vote, which is strong in some localities, will be almost wholly thrown against GRANT. But why should we have, or hear of, a Roman Catholic vote, or a Jewish vote, any more than of a Protestant vote or a Gentile vote? This is not a religious contest, but a contest of political principles. The Catholics and the Jews could not do a worse thing for themselves, or their future interests, than to attempt to divide political parties upon a sectarian basis.

The World of yesterday very frankly said that American "bonds might approximate par abroad, but for a lurking fear that some day the Southern whites, in a vengeful remembrance of what this debt was contracted for, may vote in solid mass for its destruction." This is perfectly true. And it is one of the principal reasons why the American people will never permit the Democratic repudiationists and destructionists to obtain control of the American Government.

Mr. ANTHONY TROLLOPE, the admirable English novelist, who recently visited this country, and spent a few weeks here on business connected with the English Post Office Department, has written for St. Paul's Magazine an elaborate review of the whole matter of reconstruction. It is true that many of the most intricate questions of government, politics, public economy, social philosophy and local history are involved; but what true-born Englishman would be afraid to pronounce judgment upon them all, after looking at them a moment through his eye-glass?

The Workingwomen's Home has now two hundred and fifty inmates, and they are furnished with board, including all necessary comforts, for three dollars and a half per week. If there were a dozen properly managed institutions of this kind in New-York, they would be of incalculable advantage to women whose means are small, and who desire economical and pleasant homes. They would help thousands in the straits of life, and save hundreds from a career of vice and misery. Why will not some of our philanthropists give attention to this subject?

A Democratic organ thinks that Gen. MCCLELLAN "may yet exercise an important influence on the election in November." But does the General really mean to oppose GRANT, in view of his own military and political career? And will the result of his campaigns against LEE and LINCOLN add to the weight of his influence against U. S. GRANT?

We have nothing but the election of GRANT to look to for the maintenance of order and peace in the South. Under SEYMOUR the riotous disposition now prevalent would grow a hundred-fold worse. It would grow uncontrollable under the encouragement which it has received from BLAIR's utterances and the Democratic platform, and which it would receive from an administration elected on those principles. But the administration of Gen. GRANT will give effective assurances of the supremacy of law, the preservation of order and the protection of the rights of all classes of citizens.

Public opinion grows rather mixed over the work in Water-street, and the missionaries are undergoing the reaction. No doubt it is easier for people to scoff at their efforts than to do better themselves. Every movement with a good purpose tells for something, and even a hypocrisy of goodness, as ROCHEFOUCAULT says, "is a homage to the real thing." No doubt these missionary means are imperfect, but the discussion of the subject will certainly suggest the right, radical means by which, in a generation or so, society in the mass will have grown into something cleaner, better and happier.

The Hell Gate problem will, no doubt, be happily solved, in a year or two, by the good help of dynamics. But there is a very important corollary to come after it. It is prophesied that the removal of Pot Rock and the Gridiron would turn New-York up side down, literally. The water on the outer bar at Sandy Hook will be too shallow for the great ocean ships yet to be built, and these will be obliged to come here by way of the Sound and the deepened Hell Gate—making the upper part of the City the chief place of business. All this is very possible and probable—suggesting a great many changes and dislocations, on the old Island of Manhattan and its neighborhoods. But the coasters and tropical ships would still keep up the business of the lower end. No fear that the Battery will ever set up a lament, like old Tarshish.

The public wits and jokers seem to have an unlucky time just now in Europe. "Diogenes" ROCHEFORT has been forced to "pluck up a brave mind and run;" and the people of the comic Gil Blas, of Madrid, have also, as SHAKESPEARE says, broken their shins over their own wit. They ventured to laugh at the corpulency of Queen ISABELLA just before the revolt, and had their paper confiscated. They may laugh who win. But we suspect the wits will not be winners in that Spanish argument.

WASHINGTON.

The Final Interview of the Alabama Delegation — Instructions to Gen. Meade—Mr. Delmar's Report—Annual Expense of His Bureau.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Sept. 29.

The Alabama delegation have completed their labors and will return to their State with the same assurances from the President and Secretary of War that were given to the Tennessee delegation. They had an interview with both the above to-day, and received such a favorable response that they return greatly pleased with the result of their mission. To-morrow Gen. SCHOFIELD will hand the delegation a copy of his instructions to Gen. MEADE, which will be an almost literal transcript of the instructions sent to Gen. THOMAS two weeks ago. The action of the President is highly commended, especially in Republican quarters. Some of the Democrats are not so well pleased. They say it looks too much like recognizing carpet-bag Governments.

MR. DELMAR.

It has transpired to-day that while the letter of the three merchants to DELMAR, asking for a statement at his hands, is dated Sept. 19, the statement itself has been in preparation for more than a month, and for the last three weeks has been going a-begging for want of somebody to act as wet nurse. It has also transpired that Mr. DELMAR was denied official information in the offices of the Treasurer and Register, and his figures are either copied from printed reports, which are open to everybody, or are the work of his own vivid imagination. Gen. SPINNER denounces the report, so far as his office is concerned, as a parcel of lies. It has cost the Government $67,000 per year to run Mr. DELMAR's Bureau, and he omits to deduct this as one of the items of reduced expenditure after January 1, 1869, when he will be officially suppressed.

BREVET MAJOR-GEN. DYER.

Secretary SCHOFIELD has directed Judge-Advocate-General HOLT to appoint an Assistant Judge-Advocate for the Court of Inquiry, appointed to meet in this city on the first Monday of October, to investigate the charges against Brevet Major-Gen. DYER, Chief of Ordnance. The Judge-Advocate-General will act as Judge-Advocate of the Court.

THE INDIAN PEACE COMMISSIONERS.

The Indian Peace Commissioners will meet at Chicago, Ill., on the 7th of October next, for the purpose of settling up their business and making a final report. Hon. N. G. TAYLOR, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, who is now in Minnesota, will join the Commissioners at Chicago, on his way to Washington.

GEN. M'CLELLAN.

The Washington admirers of Gen. MCCLELLAN have in contemplation a plan for inviting him here to a reception, in the hope of arousing the Seymour-and-Blairites from their lethargy.

A DEMOCRATIC DOCUMENT.

The National Democratic Committee have been badly sold by the purchase of one thousand copies of HELPER's pamphlet, Negroes in Negroland, at $1 each, the cost of which did not exceed twenty-five cents.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Sept. 29.

PROMISES TO THE ALABAMA DELEGATION.

The Alabama Legislative Committee had an interview with the President by appointment this morning, at which the Secretary of War was present. The President acceded fully to the demands of the Committee, which were in effect that Federal power would aid the civil authorities in suppressing disorder and in sustaining the authority of the civil Government of the State. It is not true that the Committee have received dispatches from Alabama since their arrival leading them to ask that a regiment be sent to Alabama in addition to the troops already there. The Committee and the President agree that Gen. MEADE has sufficient force to meet the present wants, and the Committee are satisfied with the assurance that should future exigencies require more troops they will be promptly furnished. The Secretary of War, with the approval of the President, is preparing a letter to Gen. MEADE, in which the memorial of the Alabama Legislature is referred to him, and in which he is directed to take such measures as may be necessary to prevent the troubles apprehended by the Legislature by a prompt and proper disposition of his troops. The letter of the Secretary of War will be delivered to the Committee at 10 o'clock to-morrow, when they will depart for Montgomery, viâ Atlanta, in order to deliver their letter to Gen. MEADE. Gov. SMITH has no doubt his veto of the bill authorizing the election of Presidential electors by the Legislature, will be sustained and has no doubt the Legislature will pass measures necessary to enable the people to vote for Presidential electors. He also thinks that the civil authorities, supported by the President's assurances, and the promised letter from the Secretary of War, will be able to control unruly elements and secure a peaceful election.

ORDER TO SOUTHERN PLANTERS.

An order of the Freedman's Bureau, issued at New-Orleans, Sept. 24, says: "With a view to relieve the planter, who so desires, and to avoid the necessity of his obtaining advances from a factor to liquidate his indebtedness to the Bureau, and to secure the freedmen for advances and labor, he will be required to ship a certain amount of his crop to the Bureau at New-Orleans, to cover the same; the amount so shipped to be forwarded as soon as it is put into marketable condition. Any amount in excess of his indebtedness will be sold to the best advantage, and the proceeds held subject to shipper's order. Until they can realize from their crops, supplies will continue to be advanced by the Commissary of the Bureau."

RECEIPTS OF REVENUE.

During the month of August, 781,020 boxes of chewing, and 6,426 boxes of smoking tobacco were shipped in bond from Richmond; upon which the United States Government received the revenue tax of $250,954.

THE TREASURY.

The public debt statement for September will probably be issued next Monday. Judging from present information, it will show a light increase over that in the previous monthly statement.

The Republic of Columbia (formerly New-Granada) has paid into the United States Treasury about $238,000, leaving a balance of $33,000 still due. This money is the indemnity to citizens of this country for spoliations, &c., in the Panama riots some years ago.

ARMY AND NAVY INTELLIGENCE.

Brevet Lieut.-Col. A. O. Vincent, Second Artillery, has been assigned to temporary duty under the direction of the Adjutant-General, and ordered to report to Brevet Brig.-Gen. Thos. M. Vincent, Assistant Adjutant-General. The resignation of First Lieut. Martin Norton, Brevet Captain Second United States Infantry, has been accepted by the President.

Brevet Lieut.-Col. C. Page, surgeon, has been ordered to duty as Post Surgeon at Fort Columbus, New-York, vice Brevet Brig.-Gen. J. B. Brown, Surgeon.

In obedience to orders from Washington, Gen. Stoneman will forthwith send Companies D, E and F, of the Twenty-ninth United States Infantry, to the Department of the Cumberland. Company D is at present on duty at Alexandria, Company E at Marion, in Smythe County, and Company F at Lynchburg.

Acting Master William H. Summers and Acting Ensigns John Gunn and J. J. Kelleyer, have been detached from the Onward, and granted leave of absence prior to discharge. Acting Volunteer Lieut. H. J. Coop and Acting Ensigns Charles M. Hicks, Charles Hall and Samuel Gordon have been honorably discharged.

Orders have been issued from the War Department to all Department Commanders to report without delay to the office of the Adjutant of the Army, all officers under their command who are incapacitated for duty. Habitual intemperance and frequenting game places regularly are specified in said order as unfitting officers for duty.

FOREIGN NEWS BY MAIL.

ARRIVAL OF THE CUNARD STEAMSHIP CUBA.

The Cunard steamship Cuba, which left Liverpool Sept. 19 and Queenstown Sept. 20, arrived at this port yesterday, with two days' later news than was previously at hand.

The Lancet says: "We are in a position to state that, since her sojourn in Switzerland, the Queen has greatly improved in health. The untoward symptoms which cost Her Majesty and her subjects so much uneasiness have yielded to the fresh mountain air and the change of scene in the most romantic of European countries. The benefit, indeed, has been so marked that the nation may look forward hopefully to Her Majesty's resuming (at least partially) those public duties from which she has been so long and so unhappily estranged."

A Fenian had been arrested at Sheffield and had directed the Police to a place where 100 arms and 1,000 rounds of ammunition were stored.

Baron HAUSSMANN's project of making a new cemetery at Méry-sur-Oise will, it is said, soon be realized, although violently opposed in many quarters. Arrangements are reported to be already made for the traffic with the Northern Railway. On the 3d of September the Council-General of Seine-et-Oise voted against adopting, until further notice, the direction proposed for the special line to the cemetery; and in the same meeting a protest was made, but not carried, against the principle of the cemetery itself.

According to the Indépendance Belge the Grand Duchy of Baden acceded to the North German Confederation some weeks ago; and the French Government although made aware of the fact, resolved for the present to consider this step a purely German question, "not being yet prepared to engage in war." This news is too important to be accepted finally without confirmation.

A terrible explosion took place at Metz, Sept. 18, at a cartridge manufactory. Sixteen women and thirty men were killed, and eighty women and thirty men severely wounded.

ENGLAND.

Father Ignatius Mobbed in London—Street Preaching—Disestablishment—Election Work—The Cab Strike—Peace or War?

From Our Own Correspondent.

LONDON, Saturday, Sept. 19, 1867.

Yesterday Father IGNATIUS was mobbed in Lombard-street. Some thousands of persons gathered from the banks and mercantile houses of this London Wall-street; banged, roared, and pelted at the Police-locked gates of the church in which the English monk was preaching; pelted, insulted, and grossly outraged ladies and clergymen as they ventured out, and the young Father himself was only saved from violence, perhaps death, by the adroit manœuvres of the Police. He was, after a long time, and several efforts got away in a cab; and all this for a little bold preaching, a departure from the pulpit cowardice, which the newspapers have been denouncing. He said Lombard-street was worse than Jericho, near which the man fell among thieves. He may have called its denizens a generation of vipers. He quoted Scripture at them. So hard is it to suit people. Preach smooth things and they despise you and go to sleep or stay at home; preach rough ones and they mob you, and pelt your congregation. Lord SYDNEY GODOLPHIN OSBORNE says the English Church is already disestablished. The State has no longer any choice, power or control in the matter. It is folly to say that this arrogant treachery is found only in a sect. The Church is going to Rome while the Bishops are playing croquet. Then, while commending the boldness of Father IGNATIUS' sermons to the fashionables at Brighton, he says his assumption of the robe and cowl of a monk is nauseous to Protestants and insulting to Roman Catholics. A MURPHY riot against the Ritualists, breaking out in Lombard-street, will not quiet matters in England. They want a little persecution to keep them up to their work, and to engage the sympathies of the public, and the prospect is that they will soon get enough for all purposes.

An Irish clergyman, arguing against the impolicy, injustice and hardship of disestablishment, says that "of peasants, tailors, laborers, publicans, food-growers and manufacturers, eighty or ninety per cent. in Ireland are Roman Catholics; but the bankers and men of business, barristers, doctors, men of science, men whose occupations rank them as gentlemen, the owners of land and capital, are nearly all Protestants," which, of course, makes it very hard that they should pay their own clergy and support their own religion. The Government should compel the poor majority to support the Church of of the rich minority! But, the whole thing is so absurd that the fact of its having lasted three centuries puts one upon trying to find some hidden reason for it. If such an abuse could last three hundred years and still find defenders, what assurance have we of human progress, other than that of babies pushed forward by their nurses in easy-going perambulators, or the revolutionary progress or bulleversement of a bull in a china-shop?

All the election work now going on in England is of a preparatory character. No seat is vacant yet. Parliament is dying, not dead. It is yet to be dissolved—the Prime Minister knows when—and writs for a new election to be issued. The revising barristers are settling the lists of electors under the Reform bill. Householders and lodgers are having their claims heard and decided. Among the rest, 5,400 women in Manchester, have demanded to have their names put upon the register, so that they can vote for members of Parliament. In other places there have also been numerous claims of the same character. Mrs. LUCAS, widow of the late editor of the Morning Star, and a sister of Mr. BRIGHT, is a claimant of registration in one of the metropolitan districts. These claims have been in every case rejected by the heartless barristers. The act says men or people, and women, they hold, are neither men nor people. Miss LYDIA BECKER, a Manchester lady—or person, perhaps I should rather say—said it had been decided that where the term man was used in law, it included woman. "Besides," she said, "I claim to be put on the registry, not as man or woman, but as a ratepaying householder. You have no business to know that I am a woman." "But your name," said the puzzled barrister, "is feminine; it is a woman's name." "That is nothing," said the dauntless LYDIA; "in France it is common for men to have the name of Marie; that does not make them women, nor hinder them from voting."

For all this the decision was against all claimants, who, in addition to feminine Christian names, also persist in wearing petticoats and chignons, but the amiable barristers granted cases for appeal. In Manchester, which is composed of eight distinct townships, eight cases were granted, but one decision will be sufficient. If the case goes against the women, they will carry it into the House of Commons.

THE CAB STRIKE.

The cab strike, after three fussy days, came to an inglorious end. It never had the ghost of a raison d'être. The cab masters found that they could not coerce the railways, and soon tired of going without their gains. The drivers were starving for their bread and beer. They are much abused, and some are also abusive. A stranger in London is likely to be plundered of a few sixpences, but as soon as he learns his lesson he may find in cabmen, as I have found, civility, honesty and gratitude. The whole matter is beyond free trade. Like all public service, it needs a careful regulation and supervision. In free trade—leaving every one to make his own bargain—the weakest always goes to the wall. The public need protection against unsafe and dirty cabs, and brutal and dishonest drivers. The cabmen need protection against inferior horses and vehicles, and worthless and incompetent men. The very horses need protection against cruelty. The whole service should be so policed as to insure good and clean carriages, decent and faithful men, and suitable, well-used beasts—so that the feeblest woman or child or stranger may be sure of proper treatment; and this is one of the thousand things free trade can never accomplish. It gives us very queer things, however—ranting conventicles, boarding-schools of the type of Do-the-boys Hall, horrors of private lunatic asylums, baby farming, Holliwell-street literature and the flaunting vice of the Haymarket, and all but universal fraud of weights and measures and adulteration—pillage of the poor—murder of the innocents. The London Times will probably tell me that all this has nothing to do with free trade principles. Very well; I invite it to advocate, in a few of those wonderful leading articles we all read with such admiration, the placing of all schools, asylums, railways, omnibuses, cabs, places of amusement, public houses, &c., under absolute free trade principles, without restriction or protection. The experiment has never been tried—let us try it.

PEACE OR WAR?

The question of peace and war in Europe trembles in the balance—only one man can tell which way it will incline. The King of Prussia, who has been making a tour in North Germany—I learn that he had a chilling reception in Dresden—says he wants peace, but is ready for war, and will fight it out to the end. It is for the Emperor NAPOLEON to decide. The other day at Chalons the camp broke into cries of "Au Rhine!"—to the Rhine—and the Emperor would not even say a few words to his Generals, lest their purport might be mistaken. The French army is ready and fierce for fight—the nation sympathizes with the army. It remains to be seen whether the Emperor is strong enough to hold both in check. If not, the dread words en avant may come to you through the Atlantic.

MONADNOCK.

Mr. J. S. Mill, M. P., on the Relations between Masters and Workmen.

Mr. JOHN STUART MILL, M. P., has addressed the following letter to the Illustrated Weekly News, in whose columns the system of small percentage partnerships between masters and men has been advocated as a means of adjusting the differences at present existing between labor and capital:

"I am quite of opinion that the various forms of coöperation (among which the one most widely applicable at present to production, as distinguished from distribution, is what you term the system of small percentage partnerships,) are the real and only thorough means of healing the feud between capitalists and laborers, and, while tending eventually to supersede trade unions, are meanwhile a natural and gradually increasing corrective of their operation.

I look also with hope to the ultimate working of the foreign combination. The operatives are now fully alive to this part of the case, and are beginning to try how far the combination principle among laborers for wages admits of becoming national instead of only local, and general instead of being confined to each trade without help from other trades. The final experiment has thus commenced, the result of which will fix the limits of what the trade union principle can do. And the larger view of questions which these considerations open up, and which is already visibly enlightening the minds of the more advanced work-people, will dispose them more and more to look for the just improvement of their condition rather in becoming their own capitalists, or allying themselves on fair conditions with the owners of capital, than in their present uncomfortable and often disastrous relations with them.

FRANCE AND SPAIN.

The Queen's Interview with the Emperor—Napoleon's Future Policy.

Paris (Sept. 18) Correspondence of the London Times.

The Queen of Spain has carried her point, after a fashion and at the cost of her own humiliation. We already know that a very bad impression has been caused in Madrid by the news that she intended going to Biarritz to see the Emperor, when by the rules of etiquette the visit should be from him to her. A courtier, named Count EZPALETA, was sent to Biarritz to negotiate the affair, and found the warm support of the Empress, who must be rather amused by her former Sovereign's eagerness for Imperial patronage. Count EZPALETA was still at Biarritz on Wednesday, and it was arranged that there should be an interchange of visits, the Queen beginning. Of course, when her Catholic Majesty sued for permission to go a second time to Biarritz, it could not well be refused her, nor could the Emperor, being within two hours' rail of St. Sebastian, avoid returning the visit. But the aim will not be attained—not even the moral effect, which probably was all that the Queen and her counsellors really hoped for. Unpopular, and even detested though she be throughout Spain, she is still La Reyna, the Queen and chief of the Spanish nation, and Spanish pride is bitterly chafed at seeing her pay court to NAPOLEON. The step she has taken will certainly not retard for a single day the catastrophe of which the date is uncertain, but the occurrence inevitable. As regards any solid advantage to be reaped from the interviews, probably the Queen herself does not venture to hope for that. If while she and the Emperor were together to-day at Biarritz, or to-morrow at St. Sebastian, news were to come of a revolution at Madrid, and that half Spain was arming and rising, the Emperor, we may be well assured, would deeply sympathize and condole, and might express every wish for her Catholic Majesty's triumph over her enemies; but would not further that triumph by the aid of a single bayonet, not even though the bait were held out to him of half the Spanish army to garrison Rome in the event of a Prussian war. The Emperor knows too well what such an offer would be worth.

THE TEMPORAL POWER.

Speculations in Regard to the Results of the Approaching Ecumenical Council.

From the London Times, Sept. 19.

* * * The subject proposed for discussion at the Council is "the regulation of the relations between Church and State." We know only of one country in which these relations are arranged to the Church's entire satisfaction, and that is the State of the Church. There is there not only agreement, but identification between the two Powers. There are an absolute by sovereign clergy and an utterly enslaved laity. In every other country the State has hitherto in some measure acted as a representative of the laity; it has more or less conscientiously watched over their interests, more or less efficiently protected their liberties. For the first time in the history of the Church, the priesthood has dared completely to set aside the laity—to set aside the State through which the Church came to terms with the laity. For the first time, the priesthood has dared to call itself the Church. If the Council is to meet agreeably to the form of its convocation, the 900 Bishops whom the Pope expects as guests at the Vatican are to constitute the Church. Abstraction is made of every person and everything without the walls of the Council Chamber. The laity, and the State which embodies it, are of no account whatever. The Bishops will come forth from their meeting, as Moses came down from Sinai, with the tables of the law in their hands. It is for the laity to accept or reject that law according as they think fit. But any amendment on their part is out of the question. It seems incredible that the Pope should not have foreseen that the convocation of a Council with complete exclusion of secular representation would be declaration of war of all the clergy against all the laity. There is no doubt that the gauntlet thus boldly thrown down will be eagerly taken up. The relations between Church and State require revision, we are told, in consequence of the "almost universal transformation of absolute into Constitutional Governments." In other words, the Council is called together to take up the cause of the Papal See against those countries which, like Italy and Austria, were sufficiently submissive to Rome so long as they were under despotic influences, but which found the priestly yoke intolerable the moment they developed liberal tendencies. Likely enough the 900 Bishops will be of one mind with the Pope against Italy and Austria. But no number of Bishops can supply the Pope with that "secular arm" which, in the good old times, was the ultima ratio of the Vatican. The Pope has forgotten that in the good old times the strength of the Holy See against one State was found in the support of another State. But, in his present mood, the Pope sets every State equally at defiance. The challenge will be equally accepted by every State. Combination among the clergy will promote solidarity among the laity. The cause of Italy and Austria will be the cause of every constitutional State, and constitutionalism has become "almost universal." The example of Italy and Austria has shown how communion with Rome is incompatible with freedom. Where is there a nation that will hesitate before the alternative between freedom and Rome?

THE TURF.

Trotting Matches on the Fashion Course, L. I.—Attempted Robbery Frustrated by the Judges.

Two matches and a sweepstakes race, the latter among Bull's Head horses, were trotted on the Fashion Course, L. I., yesterday. The first race was a match for $500, mile heats, best three in five, to wagons, between W. LOVELL's b. m. Lady Wells, driven by HIRAM HOWE, and W. DOBLE's bl'k g. W. M. Tweed, driven by himself. The latter was the favorite in the betting before the horses came upon the track, but before the start the mare was so freely supported that she had the call slightly over the black gelding.

FIRST HEAT.—A capital send-off was had, and the mare, in consequence of the black making a double break at the turn, opened a gap of two lengths at the quarter, reached in forty seconds. Going along the back-stretch, the black began to trot fast, and speedily overhauling the Lady, passed her, and led four lengths at the half-mile pole, in 1:17½. He kept steadily widening the gap all the way home, winning the heat easily by ten lengths, in 2:37½.

SECOND HEAT.—Betting $100 to $30 on the black, who had shown such superiority of speed on the last heat. Lady Wells got four lengths the best of the start, DOBLE nodding for the word when that distance behind, for he found his horse would not score evenly with the mare. Lady Wells still held her lead at the quarter-pole, passed in thirty-eight seconds, and on the back-stretch was fully ten lengths in front. The black now began to trot fast—was only six lengths behind at the half-mile—trotted in 1:15½, and gained so rapidly on the Flushing stretch that he took the lead from the mare, and was two lengths before her at the three-quarter pole, and won the heat cleverly by that distance in 2:36.

THIRD HEAT.—Again did DOBLE nod for the word when three lengths behind, and his horse breaking at the upper turn lost so much ground that he was ten lengths behind the Lady at the quarter-pole, passed in 37½ seconds. He again went up on the backstretch, and the mare still had the same gap open at the half mile, trotted in 1:15½. He never could recover the ground he had lost by his breaking, and although in coming up the stretch DOBLE freely used the whip, the horse could not answer to it, and Lady Wells won by eight lengths in 2:37.

FOURTH HEAT.—After half a dozen vain attempts to get the word, in consequence of the black horse breaking every time they approached the score, he evidently tiring, they got off evenly together. He broke before reaching the turn, and kept on a run for a considerable distance, the mare opening a tremendous gap, and leading him 100 yards at the quarter-pole in 41 seconds, and double that distance at the half mile in 1:20, eventually distancing him in 2:42.

The second race was a match for $400, mile heats, best three in five, to wagons, between H. CASEY's b. g. James O'Brien, and W. MCMAHON's gr. m. Butterfly. The former had slightly the call before the start, $25 to $20 being the current odds, although some money was got on at even. The gray mare won the first heat in 2:45; jogging in twenty lengths ahead. Notwithstanding this, the gelding was made the favorite, although he had lost the heat, and the betting men began to suspect a "nigger in the fence." The second heat was won by the gelding in 2:50, or five seconds longer time than the mare had won the first heat so handily in, and strong complaints were made to the judges of the race being a "robbery." The third heat was won by the gelding in 2:48, and the judges announced that they would put a fresh driver behind Butterfly, and appointed HIRAM HOWE to drive her. This the O'Brien party violently protested against, and the judges, in order to protect the public, very justly declared the race and all bets off. The makers of the match, however, continued the race, and James O'Brien won the fourth and deciding heat in 2:49.

SUMMARIES.

FASHION COURSE, L. I., Sept. 29.—Match, $500; mile heats, three in five, in harness:

SAME DAY.—Match, $400; mile heats, three in five, to wagon:

H. Casey's b. g. James O'Brien	2	1	1	1
W. McMahon's gr. m. Butterfly	1	2	2	2

Time—2:45, 2:50, 2:48, 2:49.

The Bull's Head race was not finished when our reporter left, each of the three horses having won a heat, and darkness fast approaching. To-day Lady Thorn and Mountain Boy trot on the Union Course, L. I., for a purse of $2,000, mile heats, three in five, in harness. A closely contested race is looked for.

Workingwomen's Association No. 2.

A meeting of the Workingwomen's Association No. 2 took place last evening in the cheerful and spacious parlors of the Workingwomen's Home, No. 45 Elizabeth-street.

Mrs. BAKER, the President, was in the chair. Miss SUSAN B. ANTHONY made an address, in which she stated that the condition and wages of women who worked for a living had received much attention of late from the newspapers. She spoke of the cordial reception she and the other lady delegates had last week met with in the National Labor Congress held in this City, and the cordial sympathy expressed by the workingmen there with their sisters in toil. Miss ANTHONY then enlarged on the necessity of the ballot for women as a means of ameliorating their condition. She then stated that a coöperative society of lady printers had been formed the evening before by the Workingwomen's Association No. 1, and yesterday morning the wife of a rebel General had called upon her at the office of the Revolution and taken $100 worth of stock in the new undertaking. A gentleman had offered to subscribe $500, and the use of an entire printing office had been given free of charge to the Society. She thought all this was quite encouraging by way of commencement, and felt confident that as soon as any body of women in any branch of labor were seen fairly at work helping themselves, employment would be abundantly furnished them, and their undertakings succored with material aid. She observed that she would like to see a strike of female teachers in this City, who, many of them, were getting less than $400 a year. She felt that if there was union among them they could compel higher salaries from the Board of Education, or from the principals of private schools. Her sister in Rochester, she said, had, sixteen years ago, $325 a year as a teacher, by way of commencement, and now commands but $500, while men, for the same work, would obtain three times the amount. As a little girl, she noticed that in her father's cotton factory there was a young woman to whom the foreman always appealed for advice when the machinery was out of order. It was always a matter of surprise to her that if the woman was the more capable of the two why she was not the foreman instead of the man. It was sad to find the deplorably trifling incomes that women obtained for their labor, and most painful to think that prostitution was the most profitable employment that a woman could engage in. Shame on such a state of society! It should, she said, be subverted from the roots, and a better structure raised. Employers complained that women were not thorough in any branch of industry, and that they all looked forward to being married and supported. Miss ANTHONY urged upon those present to make themselves mistresses of their several crafts, so that they might be perfectly independent. They then need not marry for a support, but through a genuine affection. She then complimented the economy of the Workingwomen's Home, and said that she had eaten an abundant and luxurious supper there for twenty cents, after paying fifty-five cents for a far inferior lunch in a restaurant.

Miss ANTHONY closed by suggesting to those present to pick out from among their friends in similar pursuits those who would be suitable for the beginning of coöperative attempts, and each subscribe a small weekly sum toward a capital, which, as in the case of the coöperative printers, would soon swell to large proportions. Business could then be commenced, and the profits now obtained by employers would accrue to themselves.

A handsome bouquet was here presented to Miss ANTHONY as a token of appreciation. She said she had borne newspaper insults and contumely for twenty years unmoved, but that this lovely token of good will moved her deeply, and tears came unbidden.

Temperance Anniversary.

The twenty-sixth anniversary of New-York Division No. 1, Sons of Temperance, and, hence, that of the whole Order, was celebrated last evening, in the Spring-street Presbyterian Church, near Varick-street. Mr. ALBERT TURNER, W. P. of the Division, presided, and was accompanied on the platform by several of the leading officers of the National and Grand Divisions. An immense audience was present, crowding the building to its utmost seating capacity. After an anthem by the Philharmonic Glee Club, prayer was offered, and then another temperance piece was sung.

The Chairman then briefly rehearsed the history of the New-York Division from the date of its organization to the present time. It was commenced, he said, by sixteen earnest gentlemen, who held their first meeting in a little basement room in the lower part of the City. Mr. EDGERLY, who was present at this anniversary was one of the sixteen. Since that time over 1,500 persons have belonged to New-York Division, and more than 2,000 new Divisions have sprung from it. Over 2,000,000 members are in the Order to-day. In this City and Brooklyn there are fifty Divisions, and in the Eastern District of New-York State over 400. In conclusion he read a dispatch from ROBT. M. FAUST, M. W. P., regretting his inability to be present, owing to sudden and severe illness. He then introduced Rev. SAMUEL MCKEAN, G. W. P., of Troy, who made a lengthy and effective speech appropriate to the occasion. He referred to the official figures, showing the enormous expenditures in the United States from year to year for intoxicating liquors. The sum spent last year in that direction, he said, was equal to the entire value of all the railroads in the United States; to all the gold and other minerals taken from the mines west of the Rocky Mountains for the past twenty years; ten times the value of all the church property in the country, and one-half of the whole national debt. Sixty thousand persons were slain in this country every year by liquor, 20,000 children sent to the poor house, and 200,000 rendered orphans. He spoke also of the immoral influences of the liquor traffic, and urged renewed diligence on the part of the Order in the prosecution of its important work. The address was repeatedly interrupted with the most enthusiastic applause.

After another song by the Club, Prof. FROBISHER read a poem, by Mr. GEO. W. BUNGAY, entitled "Our Star," which was well received. Mr. EDGERLY, before referred to, then delivered an address, in which he presented many pleasing reminiscences of his association with the Order, and warmly indorsed the hope of the previous speaker that the brethren would be faithful and zealous in the prosecution of the cause in which they were engaged. Addresses were afterward delivered by P. M. W. P. J. N. STEARNS and others, after which the meeting was dismissed.

Progress of the Union Pacific Railroad—A Pamphlet.

The Union Pacific Railroad Company have just published a pamphlet replete with important information touching the present and future of this great marvel of engineering skill. The pamphlet is printed by C. A. ALVORD, of this City, by whom it is turned out in excellent style. Opposite the title page is a map clearly defining the route of the road, and its pages throughout are illustrated by vignettes, in excellent taste, both in design and engraving. The pamphlet treats on the progress of the work and its character; the agricultural resources of the region through which it passes, and its mineral wealth. And further, it gives interesting figures showing the present and prospective earnings of the road, its profit to the Government and the entire country. The cover is very attractive; its medallion centre is occupied by two female figures with clasped hands, representing the union of the East and West. Around and about them are the implements of husbandry and the arts, and in the distance the great slaves of commerce by land and sea—the steamboat and the railroad engine. The East is clad in flowing silk and adorned with jewels; the West, in severe simplicity of garb, carries the wand, surmounted by the cap of liberty; a cornucopia lies between them.

The New-York Society of Practical Engineering.

This Society held its stated meeting last evening, the President, JAMES A. WHITNEY, in the chair. The leading paper for the evening was on the "Filtration of Water for Industrial, Commercial and Domestic Purposes," by L. HOLMS, of Paterson, N. J. The reading of this paper excited much interest, and a lively discussion ensued, during which much useful information was elicited. The reader insisted that the people of the nineteenth century are not essentially a cleanly people in the aggregate. The paucity of baths and the great indifference manifested as to the kind of water they drink, is proof of the position assumed. The quantity of water used in England per day in towns supplied with public water is only about 20 gallons for each inhabitant, while in Rome during one of the Emperors it was 312 gallons. The quality of water in London is most abominable, 2½ per cent. being actual sewage. The City of Paris no better; in one case, a well in the rue Traversine supplies water, one gallon of which equals three of London sewage in organic and inorganic matters. The author shows conclusively that all such admixtures were detrimental to the public health and materially increased the death rate. He insisted that the use of such water was entirely unnecessary, and that it could be effectually purified by a proper degree and system of filtration. He exhibited diagrams of the various modes of filtration, as practiced in Europe, giving their cost of construction, as well as the expense of operating and maintaining. He also explained a new filter, in many respects better adapted to the wants of this climate, being a close filter, working under a small degree of pressure, and self-cleansing.

The medium used in this, an elastic carbon, is very peculiar, and of a most extraordinary degree of porousness. This acts both chemically and mechanically, and seems to effect filtration at a most rapid rate in proportion to the bulk of the apparatus.

A spirited discussion followed the paper, and the Society adjourned for two weeks. At the next meeting, "Air Motors and Atmospheric Propulsion" will be considered.

Presentation at the Workingwomen's Home.

A presentation of a handsome silver pitcher and a bouquet to Mr. HALLIDAY, Superintendent of the Workingwomen's Home, No. 45 Elizabeth-street, took place last evening. The testimonial was purchased by subscription of many of the boarders. The presentation address was made by Miss EAGLESTON, and replied to with much feeling by Mr. HALLIDAY, who announced that there were 250 ladies in the establishment, and the number was fast increasing. He said that several cities had imitated the example of New-York, and that now economical and elegant homes for woman of small means existed in Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Hartford, and several other cities. That at Chicago is especially popular, and has applications far beyond its means of accommodation. The price of living at the Home in New-York, was now $3½ a week, including washing, and all the elegancies and comforts that can be obtained for $8 or $10 elsewhere.

Ward, Major Turner, Col. Chatfield, Capt. Curtis, Gen. Nagle, and L. W. Marius. The General at once proceeded to the residence of Mr. J. W. ALSOPP, corner of West Washington-place and Macdougal-street, where for the present his family remains. On Friday the McClellan Legions are to serenade Gen. MCCLELLAN. He is expected to preside at one of the stands on the occasion of the Democratic demonstration at Tammany Hall next Monday evening.

Board of Excise.

The Board of Excise met yesterday afternoon, President BOSWORTH occupying the chair. On recommendation of the Committee on Applications, fifty-three new licenses were granted. Fifteen cases of alleged violation of the law were tried and disposed of. The licenses of the following-named dealers were revoked: GEO. LINSIER, No. 145 Delancey-street; MATTHEW GAVIN, No. 77 Cannon-street; FREDERICK NESTLER, corner Patchin-avenue and Madison-street, Brooklyn; NICHOLAS SCHROH, No. 73 Stanton-street. The Board adjourned until Tuesday next, at 1 o'clock P. M.

A Synod or Convention of the clergy of the diocese was held yesterday morning and evening at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Archbishop MCCLOSKY being the presiding officer. The proceedings are, at present, entirely secret, but they will, to a great extent, be promulgated at the close of the session on Thursday morning.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

ACCIDENTS.—ANN DOYLE, aged 40, and living on the corner of Hudson and Canal streets, while intoxicated, fell and cut her head so severely that she was taken to Bellevue Hospital....RICHARD CLARK, an Englishman, aged 55, fell on the sidewalk, at the corner of Prince and Wooster streets and cut his head. He was sent to Bellevue Hospital....GEORGE MYERS, aged 11 years, living in One Hundred and Twenty-ninth-street, had his skull fractured by a kick from a horse, in Mrs. ROOT's stable in One Hundred and Twenty-eighth-street, near Fourth-avenue....EDWARD COLE, mate of the schooner Northern Light, at the foot of Twenty-fourth-street, N. R., was struck on the head by a block falling a distance of seventy-five feet, thereby causing a compound fracture of the skull. The sufferer was sent to the Mount Sinai Hospital.....DANIEL FARREN, aged 40, residing at the corner of Hicks and Amity streets, Brooklyn, was severely injured yesterday at the new building corner of Broadway and Nineteenth-street, by a heavy stone falling upon him. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where death ensued ....THOS. R. HASSEY, of No. 70 Ludlow-street, was working on an ice-slide at the foot of West Twentieth-street, yesterday, and fell down a hatchway of a barge sustaining internal injuries.

A NEW USE FOR THE SOLDIERS' DISPATCH BOOTHS.—It appears that the numerous booths erected by the Soldiers' Dispatch are not to perish, as it is understood that the American News Company contemplate opening their local stores in this City on the same day that the Newsdealers' Association intend to begin. It is also understood that the same Company are negotiating with the Soldiers' Dispatch Company for the purchase of all their booths with the view of using them as retail depots, where newspapers and magazines will be obtainable at regular jobbers' rates. If the bargain is not already consummated it will be in a few days. This is a fact which goes to show more than the mere progress of the American News Company; it is an indication of the increasing desire for the periodical literature of the day in this great City.

MINOR ITEMS.—PATRICK COSKER, of No. 644 Second-avenue, had his leg broken on Pier No. 38 East River, by being jammed against the string piece by a cart.....A rigger named MCGLENNY, residing in Scammel-street, fell from the rigging of the ship General McClellan, at Pier No. 12 East River, sustaining serious injuries....CHARLES ADAMS, aged 5, of No. 9 Pell-street, was run over by an American Express wagon last evening in Canal-street, near Mulberry, and severely injured in the face and body. He was removed to the New-York Hospital....EDWARD WHITE, of No. 410 East Tenth-street, while at work at the foot of East Fourteenth-street, hoisting a large granite stone, had both legs broken by the stone falling upon him, the tackling giving way. He was sent to Bellevue Hospital.

THE FARMERS' CLUB.—The meeting of the Farmers' Club at the Cooper Institute, yesterday, was very well attended, the audience including several ladies. A number of topics were introduced for discussion, among them the best method of preparing grape preserve, how to secure fruit trees from the attack of the curculio, and how to preserve timber from decay. Some other subjects of minor importance were referred to individual members for examination.

ALLEGED BREACH OF CONFIDENCE.—S. H. GERMAIN, of No. 80 East Broadway, intrusted a large quantity of gold watches, valued at $8,000 in gold, to one ISADORE EISLER, a jeweler, about a month ago, for the purpose of delivering the same in Chicago. EISLER took the watches and has not been seen or heard of since. The Police have been notified.

UNITED STATES DISTRIBUTING AGENCY.—The formal opening of the United States Distributing Agency, for the distribution of printed matter in all parts of the United States and Canada, took place at No. 64 Cedar-street, yesterday. This establishment, of which Mr. ERNEST M. BEMENT is the head, proposes to distribute business circulars in all parts of the country at a rate little more than one-half of that charged by the Post Office.

FATAL CAR ACCIDENT.—RUDOLPH KNODEL, a German, residing at No. 24 Greenwich-street, was run over last evening by one of the Second-avenue Railroad dummy cars, at Seventy-third street, when he sustained such injuries that death ensued in a few minutes. The remains were removed to the late residence of deceased by his friends, where an inquest will be held to-day.

ANOTHER VETERAN GONE.—WILLIAM HENDRICK, a veteran of the war of 1812, died at the residence of his son-in-law, at Yorkville, on the 29th inst. The deceased served his time in the Sixth Regiment National Guard, and also as an efficient officer of Lafayette Engine Company No. 19. He was a leader of a band in the Sixth Regulars during the war of 1812. He was also the first chorister of Allen-street M. E. Church. His funeral will take place on Thursday, Oct. 1, 1868, at 11 A. M., from the residence of CHARLES S. GLOVER, East Eighty-fourth-street and Avenue A.

SUDDEN DEATH.—At 7:30 o'clock last evening, SEBASTIAN SCHNEIDER, a German, aged 52, died suddenly at No. 4 Thompson-street. DELIA REILLY, a woman of abandoned character, who was living with SCHNEIDER, was subsequently arrested by Roundsman PICKET, of the Eighth Ward Police, and she will be detained until the inquest, which will be held to-day at the Morgue.

BROOKLYN NEWS.

ALLEGED CRUELTY IN A PUBLIC SCHOOL.—A Committee of the Board of Education held an investigation at Public School No. 9, corner of Butler-street and Vanderbilt-avenue yesterday, into the alleged case of cruelty to a child attending that School, who died recently, it was said from the effects of punishment inflicted by Mrs. DUNKLEY, Principal of the School. Miss HAYWARD and Miss DUELL, teachers in the School, and Dr. JOSEPH MULREADY were the witnesses. From the testimony it was elicited that on the 17th inst. Mrs. DUNKLEY struck the child, JULIA BROSMAN, on the palm of the hand, but one blow, and Dr. MULREADY testified that the child died on the 19th inst. from an attack of hysterical epilepsy brought on by the child's unwillingness to go to school, and the efforts of the mother to make her go. The mother of the child was not present at the examination, a fact that was not quite satisfactory. Besides, the Committee, consisting of Dr. THORNE, President of the Board of Education, and Dr. CONKLING and Mr. JOHN R. RHODES, was not appointed by the Board of Education. Dr. THORNE observed that the evidence had failed to show Mrs. DUNKLEY unworthy of the high opinion entertained of her by the members of the Board of Education, and she therefore retained their entire confidence. The mode of the investigation, together with the fact that the mother of the child alluded to was not present, are points which make the exoneration of Mrs. DUNKLEY not exactly the kind of a one she might have desired.

A BOY FATALLY INJURED.—Yesterday afternoon, CHARLES TREABERT, 8 years of age, was struck upon the head by the bar of a house-mover's capstan, alongside which he was playing at the time, and sustained injuries which resulted in his death within thirty minutes. The accident occurred at the corner of Ewen and McKibben streets, E. D. The body of deceased was removed to the residence of his parents, No. 185 Montrose-avenue.

AN ALLEGED PICKPOCKET HELD FOR TRIAL.—WILLIAM BOWMAN yesterday appeared before Justice VOORHIES and accused PETER LOBER of stealing from his person the sum of $150 the night previous, in a saloon corner of South Fifth and First streets, E. D. The accused was committed to the County Jail to await trial. He denies the accusation.

FIRE IN SIXTEENTH-STREET.—At 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the house of ANTONIO ROSA, in Sixteenth-street, near Sixth-avenue, whereby the building and its contents were damaged to the amount of $1,000; no insurance. The origin of the fire was the boiling over of a pot of tar used by Mr. ROSA in the manufacture of brushes.

NEW-JERSEY.

A MADMAN'S FREAK.—On Monday morning a poor woman from Union Hill went to Recorder POPE's Court, in Hoboken, and stated that her husband had deserted her and taken with him their only child. A short time subsequently a policeman arrived in the Police Station, at Hoboken, and stated that late on Sunday night, while rain was pouring down heavily, a man was found seated on a car in the streets of Newark, having in his arms a little infant, quite naked, cold, and nearly dead. The man was evidently insane, for he imagined his cheeks were beef, and he tried to pull them off to eat them. The child was properly taken care of, and the man immediately placed in custody. Yesterday his wife went to Newark and got possession of the babe; but the husband will be placed in a lunatic asylum.

HORSE RECOVERED.—On Monday last, a colored man named WILLIAM JOHNSON, was arrested at Hoboken on suspicion of having stolen a colt, valued at $500, which was found in his possession. He was brought before Judge POPE, to whom he made so many contradictory statements that the Judge ordered him back to jail again until an owner could be found for the animal. This morning the colt was identified by Mr. ADAMS of No. 614 High-street, Newark, who said it was stolen on the night of the 27th of September last, out of a pasture-field in Harris Township, Hudson County, belonging to HIRAM W. DAVIS. JOHNSON was fully committed for trial.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A few days ago a woman, the wife of PETER EARL, of New-Durham, died suddenly under suspicious circumstances and was buried in a very hasty manner. She had been addicted to drinking, and her husband and she had not lived in a very happy manner. It is said that he shoved her down stairs, and that this was the immediate cause of her death. The body will be exhumed and an inquest held by Coroner WHITE.

ATROCIOUS ASSAULT.—A party of roughs attacked a Morris Canal boatman, named LEACH, at Newark, on Monday evening, and stabbed him with a knife on the cheek. Two parties, R. ELLIS and C. SMITH, were arrested for the defence and committed for trial. No reason is known for the commission of the offence. The wounded man is doing well.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—On Saturday last a Mr. ALLEN was attacked by a crowd of roughs in Broad-street, Newark, and a sum of over $30 taken from him. His principal assailant, THOS. SWEET, was arrested and committed for trial.

TARGET EXCURSION.—The Veteran Regiment, Col. WM. WARD, made their first annual target excursion yesterday, from Newark. The companies were out with full ranks and made a splendid display.

RECOVERED.—The body of the boy, JOSEPH THOMPSON, knocked off the Turnpike Bridge, Newark, a few days ago, has been recovered.

Alexander Dumas to Visit the United States.

From the Pall Mall Gazette, Sept. 19.

The terms of an agreement recently made by M. ALEXANDRE DUMAS with M. ULMANN, the well-known impresario, have just been published. The celebrated writer was to have gone to America to read extracts from his dramas, novels, books of travel and memoirs; and some of the scenes from his plays were to have been acted by a troop of players who were to have accompanied ALEXANDRE DUMAS and M. ULMANN to America for that purpose. ALEXANDRE DUMAS has boasted in his memoirs of his talent for cooking; and it appears that of this, as of his other talents, he was to give palpable demonstration. After giving a reading and presiding at a performance he was to cook a dinner, of which the public was to be allowed to partake, at the rate of $5 a head. Admittance to the literary banquet was to cost but one dollar. For reading, reciting and cooking DUMAS was to receive 25,000 francs a month, besides a share in the profits. The execution of the contract, however, has been postponed by mutual consent in view of the Presidential election, which, by diverting public attention, might, it was thought, interfere with the success of the enterprise. Accordingly the departure of M. DUMAS for the United States has been postponed until next year.

A HARD CASE.—Our readers will recollect that the appointment to the Naval Academy for the Tenth District was given by Mr. DAWES to SAMUEL B. CLARK, of Chicopee and of the Springfield High School, after a most creditable examination, in competition with a large number of applicants. At that time CLARK was subjected to a thorough physical examination, and reported every way sound and capable. In the interval before his examination at Annapolis, however, he studied so hard and constantly in preparing for the trial, as to produce a slight near-sightedness in one eye, for which he was rejected when he presented himself at the Academy, notwithstanding all assurances that it had been contracted recently and in the way indicated. We are assured that on his examination here, young CLARK was rigidly subjected to the full tests used at the Academy and that his sight was then perfect in both eyes. Moreover, a physician at New-York, one of the first oculists of the country, after careful examination, pronounces the defect to be purely temporary. Notwithstanding all the testimony thus offered, the authorities at Annapolis insist on the rigid application of the rule, and CLARK must lose the place, for which he is in every respect qualified, and which the circumstances of his widowed mother rendered very desirable to him.—*Springfield (Mass.) DR. DILLENBACK

ON THE INHALATION OF "ATOMIZED MEDICATED FLUIDS" IN THE TREATMENT OF CATARRH, DISEASES OF THE LUNGS AND AIR PASSAGES.

To the Editor of the New-York Tribune:

We deem it proper in our treatment of these diseases that we should, in the onset, make the following explanatory remarks:

In our practice of Inhalation, instead of applying the remedial agents in the usual manner, by the stomach, we convey them directly to the part affected, and thus attack the enemy in his stronghold. The oculist acts upon this principle when he treats ulceration of the eyes; the surgeon when he treats ulcers upon the external surface of the body. And why should we not take advantage of the same direct method, since, by the simple process of inhalation, we can apply our remedies at once to the diseased surfaces in the lungs? This treatment is at all times safe, and may be employed by the most sensitive and delicate individual without exertion or fatigue.

With an experience of more than twenty years, devoted largely to this particular branch of medical science, we have attained the following results in our treatment of consumption and other diseases of the air passages:

1. IN CHRONIC CATARRH, a disease which has hitherto been without hope, "Medicated Inhalations," combined with the use of the "Catarrhal Syringe," have proved eminently successful.

2. IN ALL CHRONIC AFFECTIONS OF THE THROAT, LARYNX OR TRACHEA, IN HOARSENESS, LOSS OF VOICE, AND IN BRONCHITIS, a persevering use of the Atomizer removes these difficulties in a comparatively short time, when the usual means applied have failed of success.

3. IN THE FIRST STAGE OF CONSUMPTION, before the constitutional energies of the system have broken down, inhalation will arrest the progress of the disease, promote absorption of tubercles, restore the wasted energies of the system, and, with suitable hygienic measures, a radical cure is ultimately established.

4. In the second or more advanced stages of Consumption, when the disease is circumscribed, and still confined to a portion of one lung, there still is good ground to hope that the tubercles may be absorbed, or perhaps a calcareous deposit may take place, and when softening has begun, a removal and expulsion of the matter by expectoration, leaving a cavity which finally heals up, is cicatrized or scarred over under the influence of Medicated Inhalations.

5. In the third or last stage, when all hope of saving the patient is over, when a portion of the lungs are broken down by ulceration, and large cavities are formed, accompanied with diarrhœa, night sweats, and a general prostration of the powers of the system, inhalation, though it may not stay the ruthless hand of death, often affords the greatest comfort and relief.

6. In Spasmodic Asthma, inhalation, though less certain in its curative power than when applied to other diseases of the chest, speedily relaxes the spasms, and often permanently breaks up the paroxysms when of many years duration.

Dr. DILLENBACK'S work on Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, &c., an octavo volume of 356 pages, colored lithographs and engravings, is for sale by WM. WOOD & CO., New-York, and LINDSAY & BLAKISTON, Philadelphia, price $3, or sent free on receipt of price.

The Chinese Government having (through Hon. Anson Burlingame, while U. S. Minister) conceded to this Company the privilege of connecting the great seaports of the Empire by submarine cables, we propose commencing operations in China, and laying down a line of 300 miles between the following ports, viz.:

Canton, population 1,000,000; Macao, 60,000; Hong Kong, 250,000; Swatow, 200,000; Amoy, 250,000; Foo-chow, 1,250,000; Wan-chu, 300,000; Ningpo, 400,000; Hang-chean, 1,200,000; Shanghae, 1,000,000; total, 5,910,000.

These ports have a foreign commerce of $900,000,000, and an enormous domestic trade, beside which, we have the immense internal commerce of the Empire, radiating from these points, through its canals and navigable rivers.

The cable being laid, this Company propose erecting land lines, and establishing a speedy and trustworthy means of communication, which must command there, as everywhere else, the communications of the Government, of business, and of social life, especially in China. She has no postal system, and her only means now of communicating information is by couriers on land and by steamers on water.

No enterprise commends itself as in a greater degree remunerative to capitalists and to our whole people. It is of vast national importance commercially, politically and evangelically.

Shares of this Company, to a limited number, may be obtained at $50 each, $10 payable down, $15 on the 1st of November, and $25 payable in monthly installments of $2 50 each, commencing Dec. 1, 1868, on application to Messrs. DREXEL, WINTHROP & CO., Bankers, No. 18 Wall-st., New-York.

ST. LOUIS AND IRON MOUNTAIN RAILROAD COMPANY'S

SEVEN PER CENT. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,
FEBRUARY AND AUGUST COUPONS.

The earnings of the completed road to Pilot Knob are now more than the interest on the entire mortgage of $4,000,000. Over $8,000,000 have been spent on the property, and not over $2,000,000 of bonds issued thus far. The constantly increasing traffic of carrying ore, with the prospect of controlling all the travel from St. Louis to the Southern States, insures an enormous revenue. The Directors own 8-10ths of the stock for investment, and are interested to enrich the property as well as to economise its expenses.

THOS. ALLEN, President, St. Louis, Mo.

We, the undersigned, cordially recommend these 7 per cent. mortgage bonds of the St. Louis and Iron Mountain Railroad as good security. The revenue of the road will be large, and the administration of the affairs of the Company is in capable and experienced hands, and is entitled to the greatest confidence of the public.

BROOKLYN REAL ESTATE.

THE COMING SALE.

Keep a sharp look-out for the great auction sale of 548 Flatbush lots, situated near Prospect Park, which are to be sold absolutely UNDER THE HAMMER, by JOHNSON & MILLER, at 12 o'clock on TUESDAY, Oct. 13, at Exchange Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, New-York. The location, from New-York City Hall, is no further than Central Park, and only half the distance to Harlem. This is an important fact to investors in real estate. The situation of Brooklyn is equal if not superior to any city on the continent, and yet its real estate is the cheapest in the Union; prices do not approximate with those obtained in other places. Now is the time to buy. If New-York and its New-Jersey suburbs may be taken as examples, every lot sold at the coming sale will quadruple in value in a few years. Central Park lots now sell readily from $10,000 to $40,000 each, Harlem lots from $2,000 to $12,000, Newark lots from $1,000 to $10,000, Elizabeth and Orange lots from $1,000 to $5,000. The above prices, now daily realized, must convince all that an advance will soon take place in Brooklyn property beyond all precedent in the history of real estate. The auctioneers have received positive instructions to sell every lot at the coming sale, without limit or reservation. It will cost nothing to secure a map and attend the sale. All are invited to do this.

Maps can be obtained at the offices of JOHNSON & MILLER, No. 25 Nassau-st., New-York, or No. 157 Montague-st., Brooklyn.

A COMMODIOUS HOUSE FOR SALE—Containing eighteen rooms; in good order; all improvements; delightfully situated in one of the best localities in South Brooklyn, near two lines of cars; part can remain on mortgage if desired. Address A. B. C., Box No. 132 Times Office.

LOTS FOR SALE VERY LOW—300 LOTS, one mile from Hunter's Point, near Penny Bridge, Brooklyn. Apply to A. SAPELYE, No. 112 William-st.

HORSES AND CARRIAGES.

AT JOHNSON & VAN TASSELL'S
HORSE AUCTION MART,
No. 112 East 13th-st., near 4th-av.
Regular Sales every TUESDAY and FRIDAY.

Gentlemen having private establishments which they wish to dispose of, or those wishing to purchase anything in the horse line, will find it to their advantage to give us a call. Our dealings are almost exclusively with merchants and business men, and our establishment is conducted on the same straightforward principles which govern honorable people in other branches of trade.

We give the purchaser of every horse that is warranted sound twenty-four hours for trial.

Our down-town office is at No. 39 Nassau-st., opposite the Post Office, where a register is kept of horses, carriages, &c., at private and public sales. Liberal advances made on everything in the horse line.

FACTORY OF
"BREWSTER & BALDWIN,"
No. 65 East 25th-st.

We beg to apprise the public that the price of the "BREWSTER ROAD-WAGON" IS REDUCED TO $300, and invite the inspection of all appreciating first-class carriages to call at this factory, and see our work in process of construction.

We are also prepared to show our new designs of PARK and FAMILY CARRIAGES for next Spring. Orders placed now will be put in the works early, and thus secure the advantage of slow painting.

The public are positively assured that no work is sold at this factory that is not made on the premises.
BREWSTER & BALDWIN.

BREWSTER & CO.,
OF BROOME-ST.,
Warerooms 5th-av., corner of 14th-st.,

Offer a variety of elegant carriages, exclusively of their own build; also, an assortment of the well-known "Brewster Wagons," of which they are the sole manufacturers. Strangers in town are respectfully informed that we have no connection with any establishment on Broadway, dealing in cheap carriages, under the name of Brewster.

WE BEG TO INFORM THE PUBLIC that the fact set forth in the advertisement of Brewster & Co., in reference to their having no connection with our house, is true; but the further statement or insinuation that we are dealers in low or inferior grades of carriages we emphatically deny. Our customers and the public generally know very well that we have a large manufactory in 25th-st., in this City, where we are, and have been for many years, building work exclusively first class, and in all essentials required in fine carriages is not excelled in this or any country. Mr. James B. Brewster, of our firm, has conducted the business in this City for thirty years, and is striving no less to-day than formerly to deserve the confidence of the public as a first-class builder. He devotes his attention exclusively to the manufactory. Messrs. Brewster & Co. are comparatively a new concern, and no doubt build good work. We have nothing to say against them; but against the imputations put upon us in their advertisement we feel called upon to defend ourselves. Our stock is large, and embraces heavy and light open and close carriages of first quality, which we offer at very reasonable prices, and guarantee in every respect to give satisfaction.

Ninth Assembly District Boys in Blue.

A meeting of the Ninth Assembly District Boys in Blue was held at No. 10 Abingdon-square last evening, Col. JAMES NORVEL in the chair.

The first speaker introduced was Gen. RUSH C. HAWKINS, who took the ground that SEYMOUR and BLAIR were not the candidates of the Democratic Party, but of the rebel party. In support of this view, he read extracts from SEYMOUR's speeches delivered while the war was progressing, and alluded to his active efforts to assist the side of the rebellion. The speaker then read a list of rebels, embracing thirty names, who attended the Democratic General Convention in this City for the express purpose of nominating as a candidate a man whom they could rely upon to enforce their policy. The Southern journals of to-day were just as full of treason as they were before and during the war, and their orators equally defiant to the officers of the Government. Since the close of the war, it is known on good authority, that 6,102 murders of Union men and women have been committed by the rebels in the South. Out of the few arrests made not one in ten of the parties have received any punishment whatever. The rebels had already declared that Union men should not publicly give utterance to their views. Even in Alexandria, only a short distance from Washington, a Union man was recently mobbed for addressing an audience. In this City the Republicans had learned that they could not place any reliance in the Democratic candidates. The Democrats put their foot in it when they voted for O'GORMAN, and later, when voting for HOFFMAN. O'GORMAN had proved himself to be the greatest rascal of the Tammany ring. The General then defended the general measures of the Republican Administration, and insisted that the rebels should not be treated with kindness or mercy, but with direct physical force. The lash should be laid on the back of each and every one of them. Had he the management of affairs at the time of LEE's surrender, knowing what he did know of the rebels, he would have encouraged the raising of hemp. He doubted not, however, the good motives of Gen. GRANT in according to the rebels the favorable terms that he did. GRANT followed the instructions of Mr. LINCOLN, and the latter desired to give the South an opportunity to return to peaceful pursuits. Gen. HAWKINS finished his speech by counseling the Boys in Blue to cast their votes for GRANT and COLFAX next November. [Great applause.]

Col. SAGE was the next speaker. Referring to the punishment meted out to traitors, he asked if any one knew of ANDREW JOHNSON ever hanging one. No; but they had heard of Gen. BUTLER hanging several. Had Gen JACKSON hung CALHOUN, there would have been no Southern grave-yards filled with Union men. Speaking of the July riot, and the speech of SEYMOUR, in which he called the rioters his friends, Col. SAGE said that he showed his friendship by giving them volleys of grape-shot in Seventh-avenue. At the conclusion of his remarks he was greeted with cheers.

The Club then formed into a business meeting, and enrolled the names of a large number of new members. It was announced that it had been arranged to send to the Philadelphia meeting 1,000 Boys in Blue from this City, which would admit of fifteen from each club in the Ninth District. Ample arrangements for transportation and subsistence had been provided.

The meeting then adjourned.

Organization of a French Republican Club.

A meeting of Frenchmen, Belgians and Swiss, merchants and mechanics, resident in this City, was held last night at the Café du Dixneuvième Siècle, No. 190 Greene-street, to organize a club, to be composed of persons of the above nationalities and others speaking the French language, who are citizens of the United States or intend to become such, and who are in favor of the election of GRANT and COLFAX and the Republican candidates for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor of this State. The meeting was harmonious and the spirit of 1830 and 1848, and of true Republican principles, seemed to animate all who were present.

An organization was effected and the following officers elected: President, M. LOUIS ANDRE; Vice-President, Mons. PHILIP J. VAN DE BUTE; Secretary, Mons. H. DUSINT; Treasurer, Mons. J. LARRUE. The title of the Club is "Le Club Franco-Américain."

In a few days a handsome banner will be flung to the breeze across Greene-street, opposite M. LARRUE's Café, which will cost about $150. It will bear appropriate emblems and inscriptions.

The Club, after the campaign, will become a permanent association for benevolent purposes and for friendly, social and literary intercourse, and the rooms at No. 190 Greene-street will contain late French, American and other journals and magazines.

Ninth Assembly District Boys in Blue.

A regular meeting was held under the auspices of the Ninth Assembly District Boys in Blue, Col. JAS. NORVAL in the chair. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed. A speech was made by Col. RUSH C. HAWKINS, who was received warmly. He ably discussed the issues of the day, and was frequently applauded. Speeches were made by Col. SAGE and others. This Club will participate in the grand Philadelphia review, at which a large number of its members will attend. A meeting will be held on Thursday morning, at 7 o'clock, when all persons who expect to attend will be on hand.

Eighteenth Assembly District Republicans.

At the primary elections held last evening in this district, the proceedings were characterized by an enthusiasm unknown since the great Union uprising before the war. A striking feature of the ballot was the large number of votes polled by the Irish element. Although it was known that a large number of this class of our fellow-citizens had lately seen the light, and that they are preparing to act accordingly, yet it was not hoped that so much enthusiasm would be displayed among their ranks. There was more than one ticket in the field, yet it is claimed that so much independent voting was never done in one district at any previous primary election in this City. Notwithstanding the difference of opinion as to the tickets, the utmost unanimity prevailed as to the main point.

Seventh Assembly District—Excelsior Club.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Excelsior Club, was held at the St. John's Hotel last evening, when it was decided to send twenty-five men to the grand National review, at Philadelphia on Oct. 1 and 2. The meeting was addressed by Col. H. R. STAGG, Major HAROLD and others.

Yorkville Grant and Colfax Campaign Club.

A large meeting was held at the Tannery, in Eighty-sixth-street, between Third and Fourth avenues, by the Republicans of Yorkville, under the auspices of the Grant and Colfax Club of that place, a thriving organization, whose muster-roll is daily increasing. Stirring speeches were made by Col. T. B. THORP, JAS. KILBOURN, the Albany mechanic, and others.

Democratic Hudson County Convention.

The Democratic County Convention was held at ALLEN's Hotel, Hudson City yesterday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by F. G. WALBERT, Esq., Chairman of the County Committee. Messrs. STURGES and MARTINDALE were each nominated as Chairman, but a vote having been taken, Judge STURGES was declared elected. MICHAEL MALONE, Jr., was appointed Secretary. The following gentlemen were elected as a Committee on Credentials: Messrs. DE HART, VAN REIPEN, H. C. SMITH, B. MCMAHON and D. DELANY. Ballots were then commenced for the nomination to the State Senatorship. There were three candidates—NOAH D. TAYLOR, J. R. MCPHERSON and LEON ABBOT. In the first balloting the vote stood: TAYLOR, 22¾, MCPHERSON, 22¾; ABBOT, 10. There were altogether five ballots, at the last of which, Mr. TAYLOR had 29¾, and Mr. MCPHERSON 21¾. Mr. TAYLOR having got a majority of votes was declared elected. Mr. MITMER was nominated to the Shrievalty and Messrs. WARREN and WHITE to the Coronership, respectively of Jersey City and Hoboken.

New-Jersey Items.

An enthusiastic German meeting was held at Rahway on Monday evening, for the organization of a Grant Club. The following officers were elected: President, GEORGE LAUTERER; Vice-President, FRED. GREVE; Secretary, MICHAEL MANN; Treasurer, FREDERICH MECHELFELDER. Every German present signed the roll.

The Hudson County Republican Convention will be held Oct. 8, at the Jersey City Wigwam.

The ladies of the Tenth Ward, Newark, will present, this evening, a fine bunting United States flag to the Tenth Ward Grant and Colfax Legion.

K. K. K. letters have been sent to leading Republicans in Springfield, Paterson and Bloomfield.

The Democracy of the Second District of Union County have nominated Dr. DE WITT C. HOUGH for Assembly. The Republicans of Somerset County have nominated for Assembly, ANDREW RARICK in the First District, and JOHN R. STAATS in the Second.

Among the persons naturalized at the last term of the Warren Court, New-Jersey, was Mr. THOMAS BYRNE, Head Centre of the Fenian organization in New-Jersey.

Suffolk County Republicans.

A large and enthusiastic Grant and Colfax meeting was held Monday evening, Sept. 28, at Wading River, Suffolk County. Hon. SYLVESTER MILLER was chosen presiding officer, after which the issues of the campaign were discussed in a very elaborate and eloquent manner by Col. BENJAMIN A. WILLIS, of New-York. Many ladies were in attendance. Suffolk will give GRANT and GRISWOLD at least 600 majority.

A Passenger Train on the Little Miami Railroad Wrecked—Wonderful Escape of the Passengers.

From the Cincinnati Chronicle, Sept. 26.

An accident occurred on the Little Miami Railroad, about 2 o'clock this morning, half a mile this side of Jefferson, which was remarkable alike for the damage done the train and the entire escape of injury to all on board. It was the express, containing the Ohio Central and the Cleveland trains, the Pittsburg train having failed to connect, and consisted of four passenger cars and four baggage and freight cars. In a narrow cut, with banks ten or fifteen feet high, three horses were discovered on the track, but as the night was foggy, not in time to check the train much before the locomotive struck one of the horses, which, by some means unaccountable, was drawn under the driving wheels, cut in two behind the back, and thrown, a mangled carcass, from the track. The effect on the train was much the same in character. The locomotive—the "W. H. Clement"—was thrown from the track, hurled over on its side, and deeply imbedded in the ground; the tender followed in its track; a freight car, next in the train, striking the impediment in front, darted to one side and lodged against the wreck directly crosswise of the track, and on its side. The baggage car and two express cars strangely followed the same course—these four cars being uncoupled, and landing nearly square across the track, the sides of some of them being imbedded in the bank on the other side. The front end of the forward passenger car was drawn off the track and somewhat shattered, but those in the rear maintained their places. Strange to say, that in all this wreck nobody was at all hurt, except the fireman, JOE DAVIS, who only received a scratch or two. How he and the engineer, FRANK MUMFORD, escaped instant death or serious injury, is wonderful, since they had not time to jump from their places, but went over with their hapless engine.

The Columbus accommodation reached the wreck in time to transfer its passengers to the train made up for the express.

AMERICAN CLOCKS.

We call the attention of Exporters and Dealers to our facilities for furnishing any grade or style of AMERICAN CLOCKS at the lowest Manufacturers' price. We are sole agents in America for the E. N. WELCH MANUFACTURING COMPANY, the NEW-HAVEN CLOCK COMPANY, and the SETH THOMAS CLOCK COMPANY, who together produce more than two-thirds of all the Clocks made in this country. We are also agents for the FINE BRONZE, IMITATION MARBLE and GOLD GILT MANTLE CLOCKS, manufactured by SETH THOMAS' SONS & CO. These Clocks have now been in market two years, and from their BEAUTY and EXCELLENCE are steadily growing in favor. We invite all interested in the progress of American manufactures to examine them. In BEAUTY OF DESIGN and FINENESS OF FINISH they are equal to the French Clocks, and can be furnished at lower prices. The movements are made upon the French plan, have steel pinions, are finely polished, and it is admitted by dealers that they WILL RUN MORE SURELY AND CORRECTLY THAN THE FRENCH, while they have the qualities which have always made the French Clocks desirable, of noiseless ticking and a pleasant, clear-toned bell. THEY STRIKE THE HOURS AND HALF HOURS. Catalogues and Price Lists of all our patterns furnished the trade upon application.

RUPTURES CURED

DR. J. A. SHERMAN,

Artistic Surgeon, respectfully offers his services in the application of his Rupture Curative Appliances, at his office,

No. 697 BROADWAY, CORNER FOURTH-ST.

The great experience of Dr. SHERMAN, resulting from his long and constant devotion to the treatment and cure of this disease, assures him of his ability to relieve all, without regard to the age of the patient or duration of the infirmity, or the difficulties which they may have heretofore encountered in seeking relief. Dr. SHERMAN, as Principal of the Rupture Curative Institute, New-Orleans, for a period of more than fifteen years, had under his care the worst cases in the country, all of which were effectually relieved, and many, to their great joy, restored to a sound body.

None of the pains and injuries resulting from the use of other Trusses are found in Dr. Sherman's appliances; and, with a full knowledge of the assertion, he promises greater security and comfort, with a daily improvement in the disease, than can be obtained of any other person or the inventions of any other person in the United States.

Prices to suit all classes. It is the only, as well as the cheapest, remedy ever offered the afflicted. Photographic likenesses of cases before and after treatment furnished on receipt of two three-cent stamps.
